Failed To Find Budget Cut Facts

By GORDON FORBES

Health and Welfare Minister A. D. Turnbull today struck back at criticism leveled at the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service in an Inquiry Board's interim recommendation, filed in the Legislature Friday night.

Referring to the Board's recommendation concerning fixed budgets in hospitals, Turnbull declared the recommendation was not based on proper information.

He considered the Board should have withdrawn the recommendation pending a further check into the matter.

"It's absurd for the Board to say that it was unable to obtain information as to the basis on how budget cuts were made, as the Board made no attempt to find out from the B.C.H.I.S. how these cuts were made."

WERE GIVEN PROMISE

"The Board should have understood the principles of fixed budgets and that hospitals were promised adjustment of their budgets for costs beyond their control," he said.

"It is very regrettable that any inquiry board of the standard of this one should have made recommendations without making absolutely sure that they were completely aware of all factors in the situation," he said.

"The apparent apprehension of the Board concerning the effect of the budget cuts on the situation, and the attitude of the hospitals and hospital boards throughout the province, is quite at variance with the opinions expressed by A. J. Swencicki, president of the B.C. Hospital Association," the minister continued.

"Last week, at the association's annual convention, he said: 'I would be remiss in my duty if I did not acknowledge that the financial position of hospitals is better today than it was before the advent of the B.C.H.I.S.'"

The minister added that most of the hospitals of the province have co-operated very well with the B.C.H.I.S. in economizing and in operating at as low a cost as good service permits.

Noting Turnbull had only announced four interim recommendations, Harold Winch, Opposition Leader, said if there are others the public should know of them.

RECOMMENDATIONS EXPOSED

Here are the four parts of the interim recommendation which were forced into the open.

First recommendation: Immediate steps should be taken to establish a policy to pay grants to all hospitals now operating under a deficit, or that may have been operating on a deficit at the end of the year. The grant should not exceed the difference between their original estimate for 1951 and the budget decided on by the B.C.H.I.S.

Second recommendation: That any hospital operating on a greater deficit than its budget cut by B.C.H.I.S. shall have the opportunity to present its case for additional consideration through the minister to the cabinet.

Third recommendation: That should funds of B.C.H.I.S. not be sufficient for payments in accordance with this policy, they should be met from consolidated revenue.

Fourth recommendation: That it should be made clear that if the board's recommendations are implemented, it must be understood they are only interim and others may be made.

Nanaimo Last Island Centre To Meet Royal Pair

The last formal civic reception for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip during their four-day visit to Vancouver Island was accorded Royal pair at newly opened Nanaimo City Hall Friday. Shown leaving building are Princess Elizabeth with Mayor Earle C. Westwood, Mrs. Westwood with Prince Philip, Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew and members of Royal entourage. Large bouquet, consisting of red carnations and white gardenias tied with blue ribbon, was presented by mayor's daughter, Susan.

Greet Royalty In Alta.

EDSON, Alta., Oct. 27 (CP)—Cowichan Indian Sweaters, with which Princess Elizabeth and her consort became familiar during their sojourn on Vancouver Island, were on hand to greet them again today.

The Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh made a 16-minute stop today at this railroad and lumbering town midway between Jasper and Edmonton.

The Royal train pulled in at 10:35 a.m. MST and was greeted by thousands of school children dressed in parkas and ski-caps and woodsmen and railroaders sporting mackinaws and the heavy Cowichan sweaters.

The Princess, looking rested after her Vancouver Island vacation, wore a fur jacket and a dark red skirt and black hat. The Duke was dressed in a grey business suit.

Mayor W. H. Kankewitt and his wife were presented to the Royal couple by Mines Minister Prudman, Alberta's representative in the federal cabinet, who is on the Royal train for its trip through the province.

The Princess and her husband crossed the Rocky Mountains during the night and were due in Edmonton at 2 p.m. after a week on the Pacific coast.

The Royal Couple walked along the Edson station platform to a dais at the front of the station where townspeople and school children from surrounding towns were massed. There, town councillors and other officials, and their wives, were introduced.

The Princess departed from the platform, separated from the children by show fences.

Then the Royal Couple re-boarded their train, which pulled out for Edmonton six minutes behind schedule.

The big flags on Edson's main street in front of the C.N.R. station were the same as decorated Calgary streets when the Royal Couple were there last week. Mayor Kankewitt, wanting to put on a good show without heavy expense, persuaded Mayor Don Mackay to lend the big city's decorations to this small community of less than 2,000 population.

Swelled by out-of-towners, the crowd welcoming the Princess and her husband was estimated at 3,000.

Strike leaders stood on their demands for a new contract as they defied the President with the same stubbornness they challenged their own union, shippers and city and federal mediators.

However, rebel leader John (Gene) Sampson hinted at a possible solution. He said the strike was continuing "as long as the President does not see fit to declare a national emergency."

During the month of September, expenditures by the defense production department for general administration and in the way of capital assistance to defense industry, totaled $4,934,000. The total for the six months was $11,690,000, so that nearly one-third was spent in the last month for which the government has published figures.

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 (BUP)—The mounting defense production and rearmament program has begun to eat into the government's $500,000,000 treasury surplus.

The news left opposition members of Parliament slightly deflated today after they poured criticism on Finance Minister D. C. Abbott this week for overtaxing the public and creating the biggest budget miscalculation in the nation's history.

Abbott drew up his budget at the end of the fiscal year. The comptroller of the treasury announced Friday night that the surplus at the end of September was $513,000,000 for the first six months of the fiscal year. A month earlier, the surplus was $502,000,000.

According to the treasury announcement, the trend of continually mounting surpluses was nearly arrested during September, when the month's income exceeded expenditures by the government by only an additional $11,000,000, compared with nearly $100,000,000 in the previous month.

Abbott explained to the Commons this week that the surplus was likely to be cut considerably by the end of the fiscal year next March 31. Expenditures by the government normally run high towards the end of the year.

Abbott said in a statement accompanying the treasury announcement that "although defense expenditures are continuing to increase, they do not as yet reflect fully the accelerated program approved by Parliament."

As Picket Line Crashed

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (CP)—Fist fighting broke out in the New York dock strike today when 200 non-striking longshoremen crashed through a wildcat picket line.

Police quickly quelled the melee, outside pier 92, where the Cunard liner Britannic was due to dock later today.

The violence came quickly after the strikers rejected an appeal by President Truman to return to work in the interests of national defense.

Thirty policemen on duty outside pier 92 said they had expected the non-striking to skirt the picket line.

Instead, the non-striking plunged directly at the line and forced their way through amid fighting and shoving while the police rushed in to restore order.

The non-striking, members of the Local 824 of the International Longshoremen's Union (A.F.L.), fought a similar battle with pickets Thursday morning.

The strike was initiated by some longshore factions dissatisfied with terms of a recent contract between the union and shipping owners.

The President stepped into the dispute Friday night with an appeal that the wildcat walkout end "at once" in the interest of national defense.

QUICK DECISION

It took the strike committee just 15 minutes to turn down the President's request.

Truman now may invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, which limits the right to strike under some conditions. He also can call in the wage stabilization board, which is consulted in matters affecting defense.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, Truman can seek an 80-day injunction to enable a fact-finding board to look into the dispute.

Cease-Fire Offer

TOKYO, Oct. 27 (UP)—United Nations planes damaged at least eight Communist jet fighters today in a series of Korean air battles which raged as far south as Chinnampo, only 50 miles from the 38th Parallel.

The Reds threw 105 Russian-built Mig-15 jets against 128 U.N. jets and B-29 bombers in a vain attempt to break up Allied raids on the Communists' already badly damaged railway lines between North Korea and Manchuria.

One B-29 was damaged, but landed safely at an Allied base in Korea.

It was the seventh straight day of dogfights over North Korea and boosted the week's toll of Mig-15 destroyed, five probably shot down and 26 damaged.

On the ground, U.N. troops captured a key hill mass on the southeast approaches of Kum-sung, former Communist central front bastion 29 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

A tank-infantry patrol simultaneously raided ruined Kum-sung, now a no-man's-land, and another patrol stabbed one mile north of the city. Fanatically existing Reds destroyed two U.N. tanks and damaged three others in a similar raiding force Friday.

U.N. negotiators also offered their proposed cease-fire line but refused to bargain over a major withdrawal.

The Communists held out for a truce line further south in accord with their proposal Friday. But Communist newsmen who normally reflect the official Red position predicted a heavy period of horse-trading.

Actually the two proposed lines are not far apart. There was rising but guarded optimism that a cease-fire line could be established, paving the way to the end of the war, now in its 17th month.

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Oct. 27 (UP)—The United Nations offered today to withdraw from certain islands off the Communist-held Korean coast in an effort to gain the Reds' acceptance of a proposed truce line close to the present battlefield.

The Near East powder-keg sizzled ominously today, the election of Winston Churchill as prime minister of Britain being the touch fuse.

In Cairo authorities clamped a new state of emergency on the city to combat threatened demonstrations against the election of the Tories.

In Tehran roving bands of youths—termed Communists by government officials—today ripped down street signs marking Avenue Churchill for the second time in 12 hours to show how they feel about

The general Egyptian public outcry came as direct outcome of the election. The election was regarded as a severe blow against Egypt's efforts to oust the British from the Suez Canal Zone and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

The independent weekly Akhbar El Yom said if Churchill used force in Egypt, he would ignite world war three and "dig a grave for himself and his country in Egypt."

The Egyptian press declared unanimously that Churchill's return to power will not frighten Egypt into compromising their national demands.

Egypt's Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah El Din told reporters yesterday Egypt was too weak to fight a war with Britain because the British had prevented Egypt from arming adequately.

"I am glad we have not come into conflict with the Egyptian army," General Erskine told reporters at his headquarters, "and I hope it won't happen."

Meanwhile, at Fayid, Egypt, Gen. Sir George Erskine, British commander in the Suez Canal zone, said today he hoped to avoid fighting the Egyptian army but said the British forces here are stronger than ever.

The only open clash between the two armies occurred more than a week ago and the incident apparently was smoothed over

Second Boycott Move

The assembly approved a motion introduced Thursday saying it deplores Egypt's attempt to "impose Egyptian sovereignty on the Sudan without consulting the Sudanese people and refuses to recognize the constitution promulgated by the Egyptian government for the Sudan."

A second move to boycott Britain was made today by Egypt. All government ministries were instructed to throw out any British offers when bids from world firms are made on Egyptian government contracts.

It was also decided not to employ British experts in government work and to drop those left.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

JOBS AND SNOBS

TUCKED away in a corner of one of the many newspapers that I read in the course of a week I came across a little item from Ottawa. It was to the effect that a move has been started there to change the name of the various civil servants' organizations.

The proposal is to eliminate the words "civil servant" and substitute "federal employee." And the reason given for the proposed change is "the feeling that the term 'civil servant' is not quite dignified." The item in question added: "How far the move will get is anybody's problem." That's why I am alluding to it here.

ALLERGY TO LABEL

NOT being a civil servant—in the ordinary sense of the term, for I consider myself a servant of the public and always try to be civil—I cannot pretend to know their innermost sensitivities. So it may be that there are civil servants who have a rooted aversion to that label.

But if there are, I never happen to have met them, or they have never confided in me concerning this inhibition under which they supposedly were laboring. So the Ottawa item is the first hint I have had that there was anything undignified in being a civil servant.

RESPECTED OUTSIDE

ON the contrary, to anyone looking on from the outside, the term "civil servant" has come to mean something to be respected by the general public, thanks to the long tradition behind the British civil service and, in a shorter degree, the Canadian civil service, too.

Considering the quietly efficient, non-spectacular but invaluable service rendered all over the world, often under extremely trying and hazardous conditions, by British and Canadian civil servants, I should have thought that anyone would be proud of the prestige attached to such a name. And I think most of them really are.

SORRY SUBSTITUTE

AS to the suggestion that it be done away with and "federal employee" substituted, that, to me, is as devoid of sense as the objection to "civil servant." It may be that some small minds, of course, see something servile in the word "servant" and something sycophantic in the term "civil."

But I doubt whether those same minds have considered that those people who do the humble, but necessary, jobs of cleaning out corridors and emptying wastepaper baskets are also "federal employees."

QUEER QUIRK

THE Ottawa movement is all part of a peculiar pattern, a queer quirk that is beginning to show itself in many countries. Words which once told their own story of respectable and essential occupations carried out by decent, respectable people are losing their savor with many workers today. It is a peculiar—and, in my humble opinion, regrettable—form of snobbery.

It reminds me of the Chicago "sweep" who suddenly blossomed out as "fluonomist," of the English "cobblers" who decided that the term should be superseded by "repairing operatives," and the rat-catcher who suddenly was translated into a "rodent executive."

MORE COSTLY, TOO

INCIDENTALLY, I have noticed that this rise in the "social" scale of these various operations has invariably been accompanied by a rise in the scale of charges to the public who patronize them.

And to come back to the civil servants, the Ottawa move to change the name is all the more surprising in view of the fact that the continual stream of applications by would-be entrants into the civil service suggests that, from the outside at least, the job is well worth having whatever its name.

House Avoids Milk Debate

A C.C.F. resolution, calling for legislation discussion on a possible solution to the milk problem, was defeated Friday night.

Introduced by Arthur Turner, Vancouver East, the motion received the support of all C.C.F. members, plus Independents W. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. T. J. Rolston and Independent Labor Thomas Uphill, Fernie.

Turner said he wasn't suggesting a solution to the problem, but felt it should be discussed. Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman said the government is as anxious as anybody to find a solution, but thought the present isn't the time to deal with the issue because the milk board is reviewing it.

*MR. JAMES FLETCHER JOHNSTON...

How do you feel about the question of saving, Mr. Johnston?

I think it's of extreme importance to save. With rising costs and the general uncertainty, it's a great thing to have some money set aside to fall back on when you want it.

How are you saving?

Through insurance, Canada Savings Bonds and the Company old age pension plan.

Have you bought Canada Savings Bonds regularly?

Yes. The only Dominion Bond issue that I've missed in the past 10 years was the first Victory Bond. I've bought one or more of every Victory Bond or Canada Savings Bond issue since then.

How do you pay for your Canada Savings Bonds?

Through the bank. I make a down payment at the beginning and so much a month for the rest of the year until the bond is paid for.

Do you plan to invest in Canada Savings Bonds again this year?

Yes.

Why do you choose Canada Savings Bonds to invest in?

With Canada Savings Bonds, the same as with the Victory Bonds, it's like ready cash to me. I can sell them any time I need them, and the interest is much better than on money in a bank account, and there is no red tape to cashing them. I like the Canada Savings Bonds even better than the Victory Bonds because you can cash them at par at the bank at any time.

Have you cashed any of your bonds?

No.

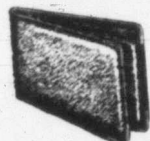

Have you any particular objective in mind in saving through Canada Savings Bonds?

I have nothing definite in mind. I own my own home and have a car. It's like a nest egg that I can use if ever I need it, and it bears me good interest. It's a form of security. I have it to fall back on any time I want.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By BILL HALKETT and DAVE STOCK

Do you think The Times did right by not sending men to Eaglecrest to cover the holiday of the Princess and Prince?

Harold H. Secretan, war amp, King's Hotel—"I would be no part and parcel to any movement which wanted to retard the progress of the press. It's one of the finest institutions we have. The press should have the right at all times to have access anywhere. But I do think that young couple was entitled to reasonable privacy up-land. I had the pleasure of meeting him (Prince Philip) at the Parliament Buildings. He is a very sturdy man and one of the finest young fellows I've ever met. I could see, though, that the strain was beginning to tell on her. They were hounded here and hounded there—all across the country, remember. I think each and every province should have provided them with a private residence where they could retreat. There's a lot of credit coming to the person who decided to give them a few days to themselves at Qualicum."

Mrs. Kathleen Cheetham, telephone operator at B.C. Telephone, 1126 Richardson Street—"I don't think anyone should have been sent. The whole idea of them going to Eaglecrest was to give them a chance to have a real rest. I don't think it was anybody's business to know what they were doing with their time there."

Gunner Art Wall, 119th Ack-Battery, R.C.A., Gordon Head—"I think the paper did the right thing. After all, the Prince and Princess did more than their share coming across the country. They were through a lot. It was a regular commotion for them. I think they were entitled to have a few days to themselves on the island."

Miss Maude Lochhead, desk clerk, Y.M.C.A., 1176 Yates Street—"Absolutely. They deserved a rest—a complete rest. The public should have been satisfied for the few days with what information was given out in the official releases. The press has covered the whole tour very efficiently. The press is to be complimented. But for the three days at Eaglecrest, I think the newspapers should have given them a complete rest. The rest was a good thing for everybody. It gave us a chance to catch up with other news of the world."

S. A. Dezall-Daniel, tutor, 106 Moss Street—"I think it showed very good judgment. I think they were deserving of a retreat. Your example should have been followed by other newspapers. The public appreciates what you did on their behalf. This tour has been a great strain on their vitality."

Burglar Too Fast For Home Defense
While his dad is away with the army, Joe McDonald, 15, is the man of the house. But Joe wasn't quite fast enough to overhaul a youthful burglar who was disturbed... after disturbing the household at 245 Russell... before he could break in. Joe and his mother, Mrs. Peter McDonald, were awakened at 1215 this morning by the sound of someone trying to pry loose the screen on the bathroom window. Joe, first line of the home defense, got up in a hurry. But the burglar hurried faster. Joe got a good look at him, but only from behind.

Jap Crew Gives Hail To Princess

Ships' Whistles Join Nanaimo's Harbor Cheers

NANAIMO—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip received a handsome "hands across the sea" gesture Friday from Japanese sailors. As H.M.C.S. Crusader, bearing the Royal couple, steamed away from the C.P.R. wharf the freighter Yamazono Maru, loading coal for Yokohama at an adjacent wharf, blew a lusty salute and the crew lined its rails to wave to the Royal ship.

Even closer to the Princess was Crusader's Able Seaman Yei Inoue of Vancouver. A husky Japanese-Canadian and Judo expert, he was the Princess' personal bodyguard during the crossing from Nanaimo to Vancouver.

Other ships in the harbor also observed the occasion. The British freighter Tarang, loading lumber for the United Kingdom, was fully "dressed" for the Royal departure, and sounded its whistle while Crusader left the harbor.

Fortunate travelers on the Gabriola ferry, Atrevida had a good view of the Princess. It lay alongside Crusader as the Royal pair came aboard, then sailed beside it through the harbor until the destroyer's pace left it far behind.

Princess Delighted With Nanaimo Gift

Smile of delight was flashed by Princess Elizabeth when 12-year-old Penny Pedersen, Nanaimo's May Queen, presented her with silver mugs for Princess Anne and Prince Charles from children of Nanaimo and district. Mugs, specially engraved, were purchased with nickels and dimes contributed by children. Nanaimo's Mayor Earle C. Westwood did not read carefully prepared speech shown in hand. He told Royal couple nothing he could say could better express Canadians' esteem for Royal couple than rousing reception given pair by 4,300 school children who packed Civic Arena. Prison Terms For Four Of Five Men Convicted

Salt Spring Island Brothers Sentenced; Jury Asks Leniency For Burglar's Brother

Five persons were sentenced to a total of five years and four months imprisonment Friday afternoon by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady in Assize Court.

Sentenced were: Francis Charles Nicholls, 22 months at Oakalla.

John V. Lumley, 1 year in Oakalla at hard labor.

William E. Russell, 1 year in Oakalla at hard labor.

Charles H. Lumley, 18 months in Oakalla.

Herbert Hetherington, $300 fine, and prohibited from driving a motor vehicle anywhere in Canada for a period of two years.

First to be sentenced was Francis C. Nicholls, found guilty on a charge of "criminal knowledge." A. B. Russ, defense counsel, said the prisoner had been in custody for two months. Mr. Justice Coady said he had intended to give two years, the maximum allowed under the Criminal Code, but in view of the two months already spent, sentenced Nicholls to 22 months.

CHARGE REDUCED
Second was John V. Lumley, originally charged with attempted rape but found guilty on the lesser count of indecent assault. J. Ronald Grant, counsel for William Russell, found guilty of retaining stolen goods, referred to "mitigating circumstances" in his case before sentence was passed. He stressed that no attempt was made to dispose of the goods and asked that the accused's action be looked on in the "light of foolishness not as an act of crime." The jury recommended leniency.

Charles H. Lumley, brother of John Lumley, found guilty of retaining stolen goods, was told by Mr. Justice Coady that court leniency on two occasions in the past had not deterred him "from commission of a subsequent offense."

ATTEMPTED DISPOSAL
Defense counsel referred to the man's five children. In sentencing, the judge said the accused had tried to dispose of the stolen goods.

Herbert H. Hetherington, Campbell River, was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter and found guilty of the lesser charge of dangerous driving.

"His lawyer, Lloyd McKenzie, spoke of 'misfortune but no criminality' in the case. Charge arose out of the traffic death of Wong Lok Mon, 75, 756 Johnson, who was in collision with Hetherington's car Sept. 29 at Fisgard and Douglas.

Island Children Express Canadian Sentiment

Section of cheering, flag-waving youngsters who packed Nanaimo Civic Arena to give Royal couple tumultuous Vancouver Island send-off Friday morning. Building was crammed with children ranging from tots to teen-agers, who assembled from Duncan, Campbell River, Port Alberni and way points. Some were on the road as early as 5 in order to reach Nanaimo in time. Children sang to Princess and Prince. Their good-bye message was "So Long, It's Been Good to Know You." Only adults present were teachers, R.C.M.P., firemen and newspaper men.

Winch Fails To Contrive Debate On Buttle Lake's Power Project

The C.C.F. failed in a determined effort Friday to have all Buttle Lake dam project data and hearing information filed with the Legislature.

Opposition Leader Harold Winch, who introduced the resolution, urged that the House go into committee to consider the entire situation "with a view to recommending to the government the opinion of the members on this vital subject."

One Coalition member, Dr. J. J. Gillis, C.M.A., voted with the C.C.F. Independents W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan; Mrs. T. J. Rolston, Vancouver-Point Grey; and Thomas Uphill, Fernie, Labor, also supported the motion.

(No decision has yet been made by water rights controller E. H. Tredcroft on the B.C. Power Commission's application to dam Buttle Lake for power development purposes.)

ISSUES VITAL
Winch said the Buttle Lake issue in principle is so vital it should be decided by the Legislature—not by the water rights controller or the Cabinet.

"All we ask is the government file all information so members can study it and reach a decision," the Opposition Leader declared.

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney said the controller expects to have all the necessary evidence collected within a week or 10 days. He said engineers are now in the area ascertaining if power can be obtained from any other spot than that the power commission selected.

Compromise On Pensions

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S plan to finance the huge cost of its new pension scheme is an ingenious attempt to maintain at least a semblance of the contributory principle, to spread the bill over a wide area and to avoid a sharp increase in the income tax.

In theory at least the best method of paying for old age pensions would be a distinct direct contribution from everybody, within his means, through a tax on income. It was evidently rejected for administrative and political reasons.

A higher income tax—unless the present exemptions were lowered—would apply to less than half the population. Many people able to pay something toward their future pension would escape payment altogether. And income taxes, beyond a certain point, discourage work and production. The political objection to higher income taxes probably was decisive—the Canadian people are strongly opposed to them.

Hence the decision to collect part of the money through the sales tax, which no one can escape, which is largely invisible and which is automatically collected in the sale of goods. Here the government in fact has dipped a little into its present revenue surplus. It is not increasing the rate of sales tax but is earmarking 2 per cent of it for the pension scheme.

By this means the scheme is not made dependent upon a surplus which may or may not continue. A portion of the sales tax being set aside by law for this purpose, pensions are given a solid foundation in revenue. The same may be said of the 2 per cent increase in the corporation tax and of the similar increase in the income tax.

It is stretching the facts to call this a contributory scheme in any known definition of the term, but it is a scheme which stands on its own feet and all Canadians, one way or another, will pay some part of its cost. The income tax-payers will be aware of that cost as shown on their wage cheques. More than half the people will hardly notice it since, in paying sales taxes, they will pay at the same rate as formerly. The hidden features of this arrangement are regrettable.

The British Columbia government has also produced a compromise in its old age pension legislation. Instead of refusing the present $10 bonus to the new pensioners between the age of 65 and 70 the provincial plan will provide a graduated bonus for these people, according to their individual circumstances. The bonus as well as the pension itself in this group is to be fixed by a strict means test. The same test, of course, will apply to the bonus on the universal pension at the age of 70.

The government's policy—designed to base the pension bonus on actual need and refuse it to those well able to do without it—will satisfy most people.

Our Royal Reception

NOW THAT THE PRINCE AND Princess have departed the shores of this island, the time has come to ask ourselves:

Did we do a job? Did Their Royal Highnesses get a broad, representative look at our city and our people? Was the Victoria reception worthy of a city which prides itself on being one of the most unique, in personality and setting, of all the cities in Canada?

The answer, to any honest and fair-minded citizen, must certainly be "No." The word for our reception was pedestrian, if not parochial. It was unimaginative: the same stiff formalities at City Hall, the Parliament Buildings, the state luncheon. The Indian dances, which might have offered some relief from this drab procession, were rendered comic, if not ludicrous, by the appearance of performers in high-heeled shoes and store-bought clothes.

Perhaps formal calls at the City Hall and Legislative buildings were inevitable. But it is clear that the simplicity originally requested by the Princess went by the boards in the rush of top (and even secondary) brass to "get into the act."

A survey in this newspaper Tuesday reveals that 193 official hands were shaken by Their Royal Highnesses on Monday. Some of this was undoubtedly proper and necessary. But was it right of the planners to depart from the tables of precedence to include deputy ministers and others who in no sense can claim to be representative of all Victorians?

Between the hours of 9.30 and 2 o'clock Monday, the Prince and Princess were taken over by our hard core of bureaucracy. Meanwhile 17,000 school kiddies were marched to their places, standing in the rain for a fleeting glimpse of their future Queen.

Surely better arrangements could have been made. Would it not have been possible to disperse the children at Memorial Arena, Athletic and Macdonald parks where they could have waited with some measure of protection from the elements? At each of these locations Their Royal Highnesses could have spent half an hour or so with the youngsters; perhaps heard them sing, or at least have afforded them a decent look at the royal personages.

As for the rest: what impressions could the Royal couple take away from Victoria, other than the routine panoply of gun salutes, bands, flags, illuminated addresses and the bald spots of genuflecting officials? Could we not have shown them how Victoria people live and work? Could they not have paid a brief visit to a logging company, to witness that scientific marvel, the barking machine, in action? Or a cannery, to witness the processing of our salmon? That we failed miserably in showing them the true flavor of the community is attested by press, radio and newsreel coverage of the Victoria functions. In the East, our end of the show received minimum attention in these media.

With the tour more than half over, it appears that only Calgary, of all Canadian cities, was resolutely resolved to "be itself." Calgary put on a ten-gallon hat, kicked up its heels, and had fun—which the Royal visitors appreciated.

If we impressed them at all, we must surely have convinced Their Royal Highnesses that we were loyal, conventional, uninspired and—were afraid—a little bit dull.

The Safety Of Our Visitors

VICTORIANS, ALONG WITH OTHER Canadians, have shown in no small measure their affection for the Royal visitors. This has been a personal emotion added to the traditional loyalty and devotion conventionally extended to the Royal household.

These genuine sentiments have been expressed in the over-riding wish to see the Royal couple relax and rest briefly on Vancouver Island before resuming the exacting duties of their return across the continent. They are the same sentiments which caused anxiety on the part of the public when it learned of the speedy trip up Island on Tuesday and later Island drives.

The passengers in the sleek convertible, which slowed to a crawl where crowds gathered and then compensated for delays with high speed on the straightaways, are very precious to many millions of people. Granted their positions place many restrictions upon them and they are entitled to their own freedom when they escape formalities. It would be comforting to their people, nevertheless, if the Duke of Edinburgh drove more moderately when, in the private life allowed him, he is behind the wheel of a car with the Princess beside him.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

I HAVE been re-reading The Three Musketeers, for the many-th time, and once more I have got a kick out of it. Something the same kick as I get from Le Morte Darthur, with its "bold bawdry and open manslaughter" and jousting and duelling and all. Jousting was much the same as duelling, except that the knights stuck around out there in the fields and woods and said "Wouldst joust, fair sir?" while the cavaliers stuck around indoors in taverns and such, and said "Pray agree to my salutations the most distinguished, and just step outside while I run you through."

Brock

I think The Three Musketeers contains more dramatic situations than Le Morte Darthur does. There are 36 possible dramatic situations, according to Count Carlo Gozzi, and the great Goethe agreed that the count's list was exhaustive. By my score-card, The Three Musketeers has 33 of these situations, while Le Morte Darthur has only 32. Le Morte Darthur, you see, is unable to include the situation known as Mistaken Jealousy, because such a thing was impossible in Arthur's England. . . . anybody who happened to be jealous always turned out to have every reason to be, such were the morals around the Round Table.

ONE thing that's slightly wrong with The Three Musketeers is that everybody in the book keeps tottering from emotion too much. They spend half their time reeling, lurching, swaying, trembling, and hanging onto the furniture to keep from falling down. A highly emotional crowd, and not very well balanced. Another minor mistake is to be found on p.75 of the Everyman edition, where it is claimed that Athos never laughed. Never? On p.94 he "burst into laughter," on p.303 he "laughed aloud," and on p.380 he "burst into a laugh." Either Athos or Dumas had better watch his step. . . . I don't care which it is. . . . I like them both. . . . but one of them must make up his mind.

THOUGHTFULNESS WHEN people are coming home after being away for some time, your natural impulse is to tidy the house and garden, to make them feel doubly welcome. Actually, of course, it makes them feel you have got along very well without them, and this makes them feel bitter. How much kinder it would be to let the old homestead look completely run-down and derelict. And then those who are returning will see how lost you have been without their organizing genius.

GARDEN NOTES DO BE sure to get your window-boxes chopped up and into the basement without delay, so that they will be dry for kindling all winter through. Nothing is so discouraging as trying to light a fire with a damp window-box. Cold-frames, too, should be split up and piled near the furnace. Garden stakes make nice kindling also. It simply means you have to chop fresh stakes next year, but why worry about that now? Broken shovel-handles should be kept for special fires. . . . there's nothing like good hickory. Some of my old handles are nothing like good hickory either.

DEFINED ONE of my small children asked me what is meant by a critical illness. As near as I can tell, it means that somebody is getting better and starting to get critical about everything. By the way, I think we old columnists should stick to the cute sayings of parents, as a change from cute sayings of children. Me, I say much cuter things than my children. Or so I believe, though I may be biased. . . . I know my children don't agree, but they are biased too, for each time they try to be cute they get spanked, and this warps their judgment a lot, though it curbs their cuteness admirably.

CAUSE AND EFFECT IT IS ALL very well to do good to those who hate you. But kindly remember that this may be the main reason why they hate you.

QUOTATIONS I ONCE knew a man who was continually quoting witty sayings. He could never remember who first said them, so he attributed them all to Anatole France. This, he said, did no harm whatever to Anatole France, and it gave Oscar Wilde a bit of a breather.

Shall This Be Flooded Out?

Ootsa Lake.

Mr Peeps' Diary Being A Chronicle Of Our Times

MONDAY, 22nd—Up early, to put on my finest jackanapes coat and repair to the City Hall, to witness the reception of the Prince and Princess. Now here were gathered a great confluence of ladies and gentlemen, eagerly awaiting the arrival of Their Highnesses. I chatted betimes with Master Carl Pendray, who hath done much for this city, and inquired of him whether he'd be presented at the State luncheon to follow, but he said no; and this struck me as passing strange. Suddenly was heard a great blithering of pipes, and into the Council chambers marched two Scotsmen, and finally Their Royal Highnesses, the Princess stunning in a suit of forest green, which was prettily complemented by the golden nosegay handed her in tribute. The Duke stood close by, erect and handsome, and chatted amiably with many councillors and aldermen, in an effort to relieve the charged atmosphere of the room. Soon they departed on their busy round, and the chamber was full of untamable and bustle, and a great assault on the visitors' book, which in the crush I could not sign. Anon I took my girl to a vantage point, to witness the Royal procession, and after it'd passed by, she asked: "Isn't the Princess coming in?" And she was much saddened that the beautiful lady had proceeded to other engagements. Anon I listened to much fascinating gossip: that the Duke, on arrival at Government House, hath thrown his cap on a balcony, and made sport with his querry, in relief at the prospect of a vacation. Which I pray Providence he may get.

TUESDAY, 23rd—This day a rare incident occurred: standing by a kerb, I saw a procession of carriages, and as they drew nigh, perceived that Her Royal Highness was in the foremost. I doffed my hat, and waved it aloft; and as the Princess passed by, she smiled sweetly, nodded to me, and raised her right hand in salute. Anon comes to me word that my wife, poor wretch, in pushing her carriage, hath inadvertently moved it onto a hill, where it rolled away and collided with a tree. And our good neighbor, Mistress Webb, rather than being vexed with the damage to her tree, hath proffer'd flowers in consolation, which is a gracious spirit indeed. My supper was a piece of beef with Masters MacInnes and Payne of the Royal tour train. We discoursed for an hour of tour trivia; whereupon these gentlemen, much stumbled by the grind, returned to their hotel to begin preparation for the visit to Washington.

WEDNESDAY, 24th—Comes to me this day two political gentlemen, Master Maurice Finnerty and Master Don Brown, to discourse of hospital insurance, which they've been surveying, and which they aver can be made to go most rarely. And Master Finnerty joyed himself in the latest population statistics from abroad, proving that his home estate of Pentiction hath grown to 10,500, largest in the entire vale of fruits. Anon comes word that my dog has an ache in his gizzard; whereupon I took him once again to hospital and he, being cognizant of these antiseptic surroundings, began forthwith to shiver. Which proves to me that these beasts have shrewd intellect. Much wearied, home for a hot tub and the reading of the London Illustrated News, which hath rare portraits, in color, of the Prince and Princess. In the evening to a meeting of the United Nations Association, whereat Major John Simon spoke most knowingly of this noble society, which hath gathered 60 states to preserve the peace. Here were gathered many splendid persons: Mistress Alvena Campbell, in a suit of grey; Mrs. Archibald, who discoursed with infinite grace en francais; Master Jim Morton, former secretary to premier John Oliver, and many more. At home, I brewed a pot of cocoa and lapsed into profound slumber.

THURSDAY, 26th—Comes to me this day Master Ernest Scott, the movie-maker, with a tale of his offering Their Royal Highnesses a film concerning New Zealand, which they will visit anon; and at first taking the querry hath said: "Not a sausage chance." The Prince and Princess are this night attending returns of the British election. But anon he did invite Master Scott to ship the film to Clarence House, where they will view it by and by, the better to prepare themselves for this journey. At my club comes many winsome boys and girls from Saanich, Keating, View Royal, and divers places, to receive trophies for the growing of prize carrots, beets and peas, and a pretty spectacle they do make. Thence to my place of business, where much ado. Away betimes for tea and pasties of chocolate which my wife hath concocted, dem'd fine. Thence to the Community Chest with my neighbor, Mistress Harvey, and she told me an amusing tale, of Her Royal Highness listening here to a broadcast by Mistress Kate Aitken from the East, in the doing of which Mistress Aitken hath criticized the style of the Princess' shoes. To which the Princess hath murmured that her shoes were selected for long standing in ceremonial processions, rather than style; and surely this will fall blushing on Mistress Aitken's eares, she having been twice presented at the Royal Court. So to bed, feeling sorry for the Princess in the manifold difficulties she faces in this life.

FRIDAY, 26th—Up early, much encouraged by a genial sun, and the news from abroad that Sir Winston Churchill, that doughty buldog (not to be confused with Sir Anthony Eden), hath been returned: which intelligence will strike fear in the hearts of grubby tyrants, and confound the King's enemies. Thence forth with gladsome heart to my place of business, where much stir. My lunch with Master Fox was a devilled-egg sandwich, simple but enough. Anon comes calling Mistress H. A. Beckwith and Master William J. V. Church, with a project for the restoration of the old Craighower schoolhouse, an historic landmark nearing 100 years of age, and worthy of preservation. In a public house, comes to my eares fascinating political gossip: at luncheon were Premier Ernest Manning, Master W. A. C. Bennett, Master Waldo Skillings and Master Donald Cameron. And simultaneously comes news of young men changing political coats, they not having heard of vaulting ambition, which doth overleap itself. This evening I went to the Arena, but our athletes were in a sorry taking, and performed like churls, without wit or sense. And it was sad to see Master Tom Morrison catch a flying rubber disc flat on the brow, with much letting of blood from this genial sportsman. Thence home for tea, where Mistress Carson discoursed hilariously of skeleton bones, a pretty subject. But not such a one for gentle repose.

Opinions Of Our Correspondents

PROTEST FROM OOTSA We, the members of the delegation from Ootsa Lake, the area to be flooded by Alcan, are here to protest to the government, Alcan's treatment of the settlers of that area.

When the government granted the water rights to Alcan, the company assured both the government and the settlers that the settlers would be generously compensated.

Their subsequent actions have proven the reverse. We have been subjected to one long round of horse-trading and delaying tactics.

When we have to move we feel we should be able to re-establish on, at least, an equal basis to that which we now enjoy. Tentative figures quoted by Alcan fall far short of permitting this.

We are here to petition the government to intervene with Alcan on our behalf and insist that fair and just treatment be accorded us by Alcan as pioneers of a thriving and beautiful section of our province.

We feel that not only those who are being flooded should be compensated but also the very tiny group of twelve families who will be left in isolation above the floodline, deprived of their store, school, church and fine community life and faced with great devaluation of their property. Their plight is saddest of all.

Although having no wish to hinder progress, we shall stay on our places until the waters rise or until we receive the just treatment we feel is due us as Canadian citizens.

C. M. SHELFORD, Chairman, Ootsa Lake delegation.

MR. JOSEPHS REPLIES

In your issue of Monday, I read one W. G. Sandford's letter entitled "The Flag" in which he couples my name with one O. D. Davis, saying that we were not good Canadians, as I replied to O.D. Davis' letter in which he said "Let's keep Canada Canadian, not British" whereas he should have said "Let's keep Canada Canadian, not American."

I happen to be British myself through many generations; ergo, why should such a remark make me "not a very good Canadian"? and what is the difference?

Certainly by all means have a flag for Canada, pr. B.C. if you like, in fact, have a dozen.

Again I express my sincere admiration for the loyalty shown by the Canadian people during the visit of our future Queen and her consort.

WALTER W. JOSEPHS, 1707 Lee Avenue.

The Fatter Sex

Ottawa Citizen

An illustration of the theory that information of a sensational nature is often contained in modest appearing documents is a dispatch sent to this department by a company that supplies automatic controls for heating units. The company's brief communique answers the question: "Why do women wear less clothing in winter than do men?" Their startling answer is reported so matter-of-factly that it might easily escape attention.

To those who are not on the company's mailing list or who do not carefully read their mail, it can be said that women do not wear as much clothing during the winter as do men because they are fatter. Or, as the company's researchers put it, women have "more insulating subcutaneous fat than have men and 10 per cent difference in metabolic rate." All of which, means that they can resist cold better.

All of which, means—and this the company is quick to point out—home temperatures should be properly controlled if the latter, hence warmer of the two sexes is to be kept contented.

MAKES CORRECTION

May I, through the medium of this note, express my sincere thanks for the very, very nice write-up on the entertainment page of Monday's Times re the New Imperial Club show next week at the Fox Theatre. I feel sure that you are one of the people helping to make our show a huge success. However, may I please point out one little misprint in Monday's article. The show is to be produced or rather presented on Sunday, Oct. 28, and not on Monday, as your article stated.

Please understand, sir, that this is not by any means intended as criticism in any shape or form, but merely an endeavor to avoid any disappointment.

STEVEN C. JOYCE, President, New Imperial Club.

A PAT AND A KICK

Please allow me to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the publishing of my recent letter in your issue of Saturday. For the action on your part of allowing me the privilege of replying to the earlier criticism of one of your readers is, I assure you, very much appreciated.

May I add, too, that I appreciate your earnest editorial in the same issue under the heading "Try Christianity," and suggest that a practical test or application would consist of your throwing open to readers for expression of opinion and encouragement in real thinking that portion of the page now given over to the dribble "Peeps' Diary" and that other utterly useless and harmful and extremely detrimental drivel, "Under Our Roof," than which I know of nothing more utterly disgusting.

With these two useless fillers eliminated and their space given over to worthwhile and thoughtful discussion of some of our growing problems, the Daily Times would be immensely improved.

Canada's Support Of Non-Military Clauses Revives Confidence Of European Colleagues

By MICHAEL BARKWAY, Correspondent of Saturday Night and The Victoria Daily Times, From Ottawa.

IT WAS NOT to be expected that the short debate on foreign affairs which took place this week would chart any new or startling course in Canadian policy. What it did do was to emphasize that Canada—Government and opposition alike—still regards the Western rearmament effort as an effort to deter aggression, and not as a means to be ready to win a war. If this is not news in Canada, it is something quite important in Europe.

Barkway

Mr. Pearson was very definite about it. He talked about the importance of making it clear to all the world that our only object was to maintain peace. He talked—vaguely, it's true—but still he talked about reaching the point where the West could negotiate from strength if it was given any chance to negotiate.

He talked about the double attack of communism, and he made it clear that the indirect attack through economic dislocation, poverty and want, was as much of a danger as the direct military attack.

Not news probably, here in Canada. So gently phrased as not even to be news in the United States. But in the chancelleries and foreign offices of our N.A.T.O. allies, it meant quite a bit.

As one very acute observer put it to me in Europe this summer: "We understand that you in North America are very much concerned to win a war, if war comes. You, in Canada and the United States, could win a war. But most people here in Europe are not the least bit interested in that. If war can't be prevented, we are not interested in your N.A.T.O.'s or your rearmament. Because we couldn't win."

To people like this, the foreign affairs debate will have given renewed assurance that Canada is still on what they consider the sane and sensible path. At bottom I suppose the most interesting thing is that so many Europeans attach so much importance to what we do. I don't overestimate their idea of our capabilities: they have as realistic a view as I think most Canadians have of what influence we can carry in the really crucial debates. But they do say that, because we are North American, because we are less likely to be accused of being interested parties, we can go further than any European country can in pressing a point of view which may not be immediately popular in Washington.

Mr. Pearson, it seems to me, has a most unenviable row to hoe. He has to press, because he is persuaded of its rightness, what I call the non-military side of the case. This is the insistence that arms in themselves can never solve the split in the world which endangers peace: that there must be arms, but that arms are merely a support for diplomacy, a preparation for negotiations from strength; that arms are not worth the price if they mean economic breakdown; and that the world has not come to the point yet where the arbitrament of arms is inevitable.

He must press this case externally. But internally he must press the case for greater efforts at rearmament.

For the force of his argument abroad depends on his being able to say that Canada is not shirking the proper burden of rearmament. He must be able to go the United States, or to the N.A.T.O. council, and say that what in Canada are doing our share of what we know needs to be done to make the western world safe. And if he can't say that he can't carry conviction with his insistence that arms are not the sole end of our endeavor.

He is leaving this week-end for the meetings of the UN Assembly, to be followed by the crucial meeting of N.A.T.O. in Rome. He will be the chairman of the North Atlantic Council. He has the chance to wield considerable influence. The Canadian public will probably be disappointed if it is not able to say how important he was as their representative. But his importance, and his influence, depend on Canada's record of military effort being above reproach.

Given that condition he can exert a most valuable influence in bridging the widening gulf between Europe and the United States. Without it, he might as well save his breath.

THE CHURCH PAGE

By LANCE H. WHITTAKER

The oldest standing church in continuous use in Victoria will celebrate its 77th anniversary tomorrow. It is the Reformed Episcopal "Church of Our Lord" at Humboldt and Blanshard Streets.

The observances will recall, for those who are historically inclined, the biggest furor which ever shook Victoria's Anglican community—and early Victoria was predominantly Anglican.

The church was formed at a meeting of Anglicans held in the old Pandora Street church on Oct. 29, 1874. The decision to start a Reformed Anglican congregation was the culmination of a two-year alteration between Bishop George Hills and Dean Edward Cridge of Christ Church Cathedral, a quarrel which had its beginnings in a protest against "ritualism" delivered in the cathedral by Dean Cridge at the close of a sermon preached by another minister of the parish.

Remonstrations by Bishop Hills and a running defense by the dean were the talk of the city from December, 1872, until October, 1874, when the matter reached a head in an ecclesiastical trial which saw the dean deprived of his license.

Formation of the new church was urged on the dean by many members of the cathedral congregation. Affiliation with the Reformed Anglican Church was natural, congregations having sprung up about the same time in the maritimes and in the United States. Dean Cridge became rector of the new church and was subsequently raised to the office of bishop.

The land upon which the church stands (which was at that time fronting upon the Inner Harbor) was deeded to the new church by Sir James Douglas, one of the dean's supporters in the matter of banning ritualism. A large memorial window honors the governor.

Prophecy Is Anniversary Subject

In the ensuing years the church has continued to provide a spiritual home to those early rebels and their descendants.

Today the pulpit is occupied by Rev. J. G. Brown, D.D.

Dr. Brown, for 30 years principal of Union College at the University of British Columbia (a United Church theological college, incidentally), is known to a host of U.B.C. graduates, not all theologically, who lived at Union while attending university. The present rector is well known for his sermons on prophecy. He will commence a new series tomorrow evening, when he speaks on the Book of Amos.

At the morning service the Sunday school will join the congregation in open meeting. Both morning and evening services will be devoted to harvest home as well as 77th birthday themes.

Old Testament Slavery Has Lesson For Moderns

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

One of the things that has made the Bible's Old Testament so vitally related to human experience, and so persistent in its symbolism, is the "fact" that every phase of what has happened, and what is happening, to humanity is somewhere found in the record.

Periods and episodes of greatness, prosperity, and splendor are interspersed in that history with periods of depression, deep suffering, and utter destruction. The enslavement of the Jews who were driven from Palestine to Egypt by famine, where they had shared at first in the power and popularity of Joseph, was only the first of great and tragic disasters that fell upon that people.

The national strength developed under King David, and the "glory of Solomon," had barely passed before the nation was disrupted by internal strife, a prelude to the destruction and dispersion of the Northern Kingdom of the Ten Tribes, eight centuries before Christ, and the carrying off of the mass of the people to exile in Babylon, 136 years later.

The Jews have been exceptional in their spirit and their power to survive.

ETERNAL BONDAGE
Slavery and some form of bondage have been the condition of the vast mass of mankind all through the ages, and freedom, except in the concep-

HOPE REVEALED

What is most deeply significant in those Scriptures, however, is that out of, and in, a world of slavery and bondage, they not only contain the essential idea of freedom, but they reveal the hope, power, and persistent spirit of survival.

Not only is it significant that the spirit of freedom persists in a world of bondage, but religiously there is the miracle of the survival of faith, and the aspiration for truth and righteousness.

Despite the deep-dyed sins of nation and individuals, in the history of Israel, what shines forth is a pure and perfect aspiration for God, and a sublime devotion to the commonweal. Did patriotism ever have a nobler expression than that in Isaiah 62:1?

NEWS OF CITY CHURCHES

Consecrate Anglican Memorials

Two important ceremonies will mark Anglican services in the city Sunday.

At 11 a.m., Rt. Rev. Harold Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, will consecrate the new chancel of St. Mary's Church, built in memory of 80 members of the congregation who gave their lives in both wars.

At 7:30 in the evening Bishop Sexton will dedicate the new hall at St. John's, also erected as a memorial to the war dead.

At St. Mary's the Bishop will also consecrate two memorial stained-glass windows, given by Mrs. William Rose and Mrs. R. W. Gibson in memory of their late husbands.

The chancel is to be the nucleus of the new St. Mary's Church. The present church was consecrated on October 4, 1911, and has had only two rectors, the late Rev. G. H. Andrews and the present rector, Canon A. E. deL. Nunn.

Mr. Harney Chersach will be the guest speaker at a public meeting of the Theological Society, 904 Government Street, Sunday evening at 8.

AUSPICIOUS DAY

'Pathetique' Symphony's Anniversary

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Fifty-eight years ago tomorrow Peter Tschaiakowsky stepped onto the conductor's stand at St. Petersburg to conduct the first performance of his "Pathetique" symphony.

And as he stood there, he was a man whose body already contained the seeds of death; whose life span had dwindled to a handful of days.

It has been said that this was foretold in the unsurpassed melancholy of the B minor's first and final movements. This, coupled with Tschaiakowsky's comment concerning it: "... an idea for a new symphony ... a symphony with a program, but a program that will remain an enigma to all. Let them guess for themselves ..." has been translated by some writers to mean that Tschaiakowsky contemplated self-destruction.

Biographical data does not, however, support the idea. Being of Slavic origin, the habit of melancholy was deeply ingrained, and the composer's life, in addition, was emotionally involved and strained.

It is not remarkable that he should sublimate his inmost self in his last composition; only a such music should have been his last.

28 YEARS OF COMPOSING

Nine days after a listless reception by the public of the Sixth B minor, Symphony, Tschaiakowsky lay dead of cholera. He had not begun his professional musical life until the age of 25, after having been trained for the law. In 28 years of creative life, he had produced an imposing mass of music; a fair proportion of it to remain in the permanent literature of the symphony and the theatre, probably for all time.

While Tschaiakowsky's temperament was characteristically Russian, his music cannot be said to be so. Folk music does not play so large a part of his creative imagination as it has done in the work of other Russian composers.

A rich strata of color from the south of Europe enters here, the influence of his confessed love of Mozart and Italian music. The result has been to make Tschaiakowsky one of the most widely popular of Russian composers.

TO BE PLAYED MONDAY

On Monday night, 58 years and one day after the first performance, Hans Gruber and the Victoria Symphony Orchestra will play this haunting and haunted music for the first time in this city.

For some of us, the symphony is familiar through radio and recorded performances; others have heard it in other cities. For all it will have a poignant appeal; it will stir the imagination to conjecture about the strange, troubled life of a man for whom poverty and normal human relationships were alike unknown.

MARK 40 YEARS OF GROWTH

Standard Furniture Sells To Ever-Widening Fields

Forty years ago, Arthur S. Denny, who arrived in Esquimalt in 1898 with the Royal Engineers, left military service and opened a furniture business in an upstairs office on Pandora Avenue.

Today the firm he founded, the Standard Furniture Company, with a staff of 96 headed by his two sons, Thomas and Roy, celebrates its 40th anniversary in its five-story building on Yates Street.

The Victoria firm, steadily expanding since its founding, now maintains a complete furniture and home furnishings service, with furniture made in its Victoria premises being shipped as far afield as Winnipeg, and with a Pacific Northwest representative recently established in Seattle.

The 21 divisions in the firm are equipped and staffed to supply everything from the simplest home furnishings to the most elaborate.

Most recent specialized tasks for the staff were the decorating of the wardroom at Royal Roads and the decorating of H.M.C.S. Ontario's Royal suite in preparation for the Royal visit.

NAVAL VETERANS

Both Thomas and Roy Denny fit well in the pattern of Victoria tradition. During the recent war they served with the R.C.N.R. Thomas as a commander and Roy as a lieutenant. There were 22 other staff members who entered the armed forces during the war, 21 returned to the firm to take up their prewar work.

Thomas Denny is now vice-president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, is a member of the Kiwanis Club, and is on the executive of the Navy League of Canada.

Roy Denny, a member of the Rotary Club, is vice-president of the Community Chest.

To keep the staff at Standard up to the minute in service, courses in public relations and public speaking are held continuously, as well as instruction in interior decorating, based on the famous New York School of Interior Decorating course. Noted authorities on architecture, fabrics, dyeing and many other fields are brought in to guide the staff.

Benefits enjoyed by the staff, without cost to themselves, include membership in the Medical Services Association and the hospital insurance.

The traditional policy of keeping the firm's support of allied industries within the Vancouver Island area is to be maintained and strengthened.

Unemployment In Canada Said On Increase

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 (BUP).—Unemployment increased in Canada during September, and at the beginning of this month 134,800 persons were looking for jobs, Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg reported today.

Applications for employment on hand at National Employment Service offices were 7,700 higher on Oct. 4 than five weeks earlier, Gregg said, and up 1,500 from Oct. 5, 1950.

The increase in unemployment compared with last year was due to "generally less favorable employment conditions in Ontario and British Columbia, which more than offset an improved situation in the Maritimes, Quebec and Prairie provinces," Gregg said.

The labor minister said that lay-offs and short-time work continued in industries producing automobiles and parts, refrigerators, stoves, washing machines, other electrical appliances, textiles, furniture and various steel-using products.

Hours worked per week in manufacturing as a whole totalled 41.3 at Aug. 1, a decline from 42.5 a year ago, he said.

Gregg added, however, that "workers are being called back in some cases, as production adjusts to the changing pattern of consumer and defense spending."

Should Get Tough If Drivers Drink

Sgt. Brooke Douglass, head of the city police traffic section, favors a "tougher attitude" in regard to persons who drink and drive.

He told Optimist Club members that "it's high time we took off the kid gloves in dealing with the driver who has drunk too much alcohol." He described the drunken driver as a "public menace."

Sgt. Douglass favored approved chemical tests for suspected drivers. He considered it the fairest way to determine the guilty—or the innocent.

Bell of the corn-stalk

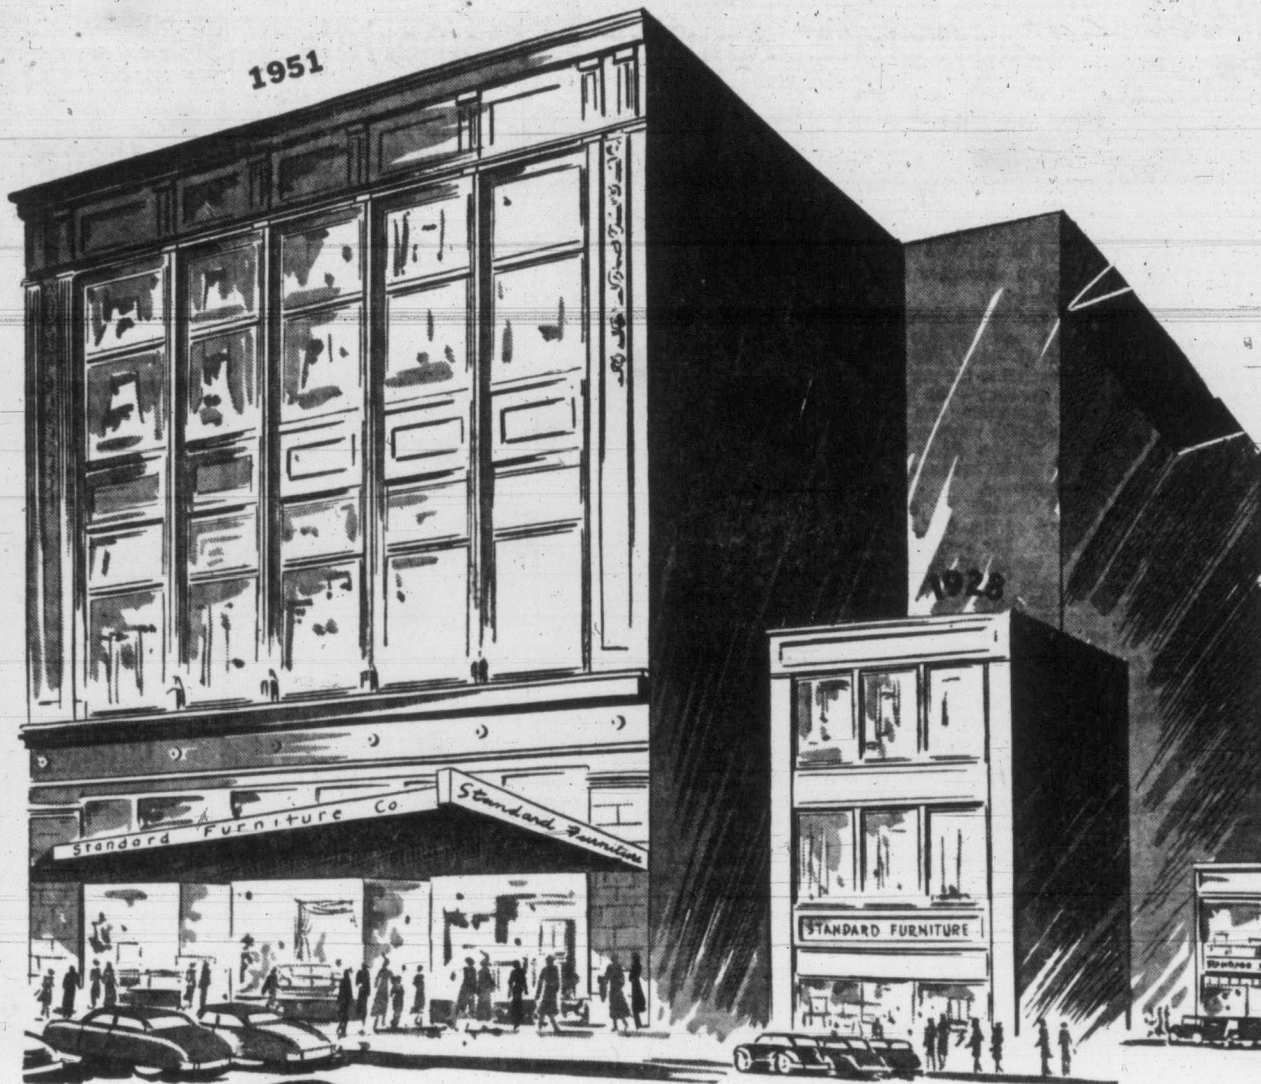

At the beginning of the eighteenth century, the village of Croslawitz in Northern Germany had only one bell, so small that it could not be heard on the outskirts of the village. A second bell was badly needed but the poor villagers could not afford to pay for it. One Sunday, Gottfried Hayn, the schoolmaster, was going to church when he noticed a green corn-stalk growing out of the churchyard wall. This gave him a very bright idea. When the corn was ripe, he took the seeds and sowed them in his garden. From this small beginning, the crop increased until, after eight years, it was sold to finance the casting of the beautiful bell which now hangs in the church tower at Croslawitz. Its history and birthday—15th October, 1729—are engraved on it with a cast of the corn-stalk to which it owes its existence.

Jim Shirley Doesn't Welcome A Royal Visit

Although a good many hockey fans left the arena feeling none too happy over the showing of the Victoria Cougars Friday night, there were no complaints over the tremendous game played by Jim Shirley. The quiet curly-headed netminder who is doing such a capable job of taking over Jerry Cointoir's job forestalled the inevitable 5-3 defeat hung on the Cougars by New Westminster Royals with stops like this. Almie Dufault and Ollie Dorohoy (No. 5) were all alone on Shirley's crease here but were unable to slip the puck past his agile legs.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

When the Western International Baseball League opens its annual meeting here on Monday several important matters concerning the future of the league will come up for discussion.

Of primary consideration is the announced intention of president Robert Abel to seek a return to the rookie and limited service player rule. Though there is always the possibility that Mr. Abel won't be around next year to see his plan in effect, it is undeniable that such a move will be made. The salvation of several clubs, including the Victoria Athletics, depends on it.

Under such the limited service player clause clubs would be forced to carry a designated number of players with less than say, for example, three years of professional experience. The rookie rule, if adopted, would require clubs to include on their rosters players with no previous professional experience.

This will undoubtedly cut down the number of veterans in the league and restore the circuit to the class "B" status it holds.

In past seasons, the league salary limit has been exceeded by a number, if not all, the clubs. Naturally this tends to give such centres as Vancouver and Spokane, with their huge drawing power, an advantage in securing high-priced performers. As a result the smaller cities are immediately at a disadvantage. This fact was born out with the announcement that Salem, despite its record-breaking attendance the past season, still suffered an operating loss of $16,000.

No Club Is Financially Well Off

Other clubs fared likewise including the A's, who, if the truth were known, can come precariously close to matching Salem's flow of red ink.

Baseball can survive in the W.I.L. only if such rulings are adopted.

Then there is the question of Tacoma's franchise. It is virtually certain that Tacoma is through as a W.I.L. city, the parent San Diego Padres having withdrawn their support and offered the franchise to the highest bidder.

Granting there is always the chance that last-minute efforts may be made to keep the franchise in Tacoma, the fact that Lewiston, Idaho, and Calgary representatives will be present at the meeting appears to preclude such a possibility.

The inclusion of Calgary would appear to have the desired effect only if Edmonton was included in the proposal as has been mooted on several occasions in the past. To date, Edmonton has shied away from any such proposal. Lewiston's position is not quite clear at the moment. However, it is reported they are definitely interested in securing the Tacoma franchise.

Also of more than passing interest is the question of Victoria's future. The A's have lost money for the past three seasons, but so far there has been no announced intention of tossing in the sponge. Rather, the feeling appears to be that "there will be W.I.L. baseball in Victoria next year."

Full-Time Prexy A Necessity

The question of a league president is expected to be a major item as well. Abel came in for severe criticism several times last year especially when the league playoffs were cancelled. However, this contentious decision was apparently necessitated by factors beyond the control of the league and its directors.

Several names have been mentioned as presidential timber, one of the most prominent being Joe Brownlow of Wenatchee. Salem is also reported to have a candidate for the position, while it's always possible a dark-horse selection may be at the post come voting time.

A suggestion that has been gaining momentum in recent weeks is that a full-time president be elected. Frankly we think it's one solution to the number of problems the league is faced with at this moment. Problems, which if not rectified immediately, could spell disaster.

BOIVIN ACTING UP

Smythe Has Troubles

Somehow or other, Conn Smythe's player-troubles have been piling up the last couple of years. But he still can come up with a Stanley Cup winner.

First, the C-form twins—Danny Lewicki and George Armstrong—raised a lot of rumpus in the public prints before they came under the Leafian fold, due mainly to Smythe's persuasiveness. Then Wild Bill Ezrinicki (now with Boston Bruins) decided last season to lose himself on a golf course rather than train with the Leafs.

And now it's the temperamental Leo Boivin, seriously considered as a hot-shot prospect with the Leafs, who up and left Pittsburgh, farm club of the Leafs in the American Hockey League. Leo had a date with Smythe yesterday and came out of the conference still undecided whether he wants to make pro hockey his career.

Goos To Rangers

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (CP)—Jim Conacher, slender forward sought by the Rangers for two seasons, has finally been acquired by New York's National Hockey League club.

FEBRUARY TOURNEY

Times To Again Sponsor Gloves

The Vancouver Island Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament will, for the third successive year, be sponsored by the Victoria Daily Times.

To be held in early February, the 1952 tournament will bring together the best of the Island's rapidly growing fistic crop to decide which fighters will go to Vancouver to participate in the provincial Golden Gloves.

The Times will present jackets and crests to winners in the various weight classes. The outstanding fighter of the tournament will receive the Golden Boy trophy. This trophy, a gold and ivory statuette, will be presented by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, honorary president of the Vancouver Island Amateur Boxing Association.

Preceding the Golden Gloves will be the Bronze Gloves, for novice fighters in early January, and the Silver Gloves near the end of January. These cards will serve as a tune-up for the Golden Gloves.

In the last two years, under sponsorship of the Times, the tournament has turned over $700 back to local boxing. All proceeds of the show, after expenses have been met, are divided between the clubs sending fighters to the Golden Gloves and the V.I.A.B.A.

Last year's tournament was a smashing success both financially and in the quality of boxing presented. Thirty boys were entered from three Victoria clubs, Nanaimo, Alberni, Army and Navy.

Harry Bloor, secretary of the British Columbia Amateur Boxing Association at that time, attended the Island tournament and said, "Not only was it the best tournament I have ever seen on the Island, but it was one of the best I have seen anywhere."

GOLDEN BOY TAKES WING

A smiling redhead with knock-out drops—in both fists, Wayne Robertson completely captivated the fans and was named 1951 Golden Boy. However, Nick Lister, who has been coaching Robertson at the Esquimalt club, reports that he is looking for a new Golden Boy as Robertson has joined the air force.

Jim Audain, V.I.A.B.A. secretary, reports that all city clubs are already working strenuously in preparation for the highlight of the boxing year. Audain also hopes to have a large contingent from George Hamilton's Alberni club in the championships.

Entries will be received by the boxing association until the end of January. Classes expected to be open are 90-100, 112, 118, 126, 135, 147 and 160-pound weight brackets.

Schroeder On U.S. Cup Team

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Oct. 27 (AP)—Veteran Ted Schroeder joined the United States Davis Cup team officially today.

The La Crescenta, Calif., refrigerator salesman arrived here with the squad yesterday, and while the announcement of his membership on the team was anticipated, it wasn't expected this soon.

Schroeder, who has represented the U.S. in six cup tournaments, originally told the Davis Cup committee two weeks ago that he would be unable to make the trip.

He said last night, however, that he reconsidered under urging from Perry T. Jones, secretary of the Los Angeles Tennis Association, and Frank Shields, the Davis Cup captain.

Carpet Bowling

Tuesday: Drummond and Nelson vs. Cull and Greenlake; Bates and T. Bridges vs. F. Bridges and Jenkins.

Wednesday: St. Luke vs. Beadles.

Thursday: Colvin and Harrison vs. J. Whittle and K. Williams; T. Bridges and J. Pansell vs. B. Thomas and Dorey.

Friday: McKenzie and Thackery vs. D. Thomas and Pansell.

No Comment Describes Cougar Defeat Perfectly

Royal Flash Power To End Undefeated String

By BILL WALKER

New Westminster 5, Victoria 3

Want the story of the Cougars' first home defeat since Dec. 22, 1950, in four terse remarks?

Lester Patrick: No comment.

Roger Leger: No comment.

Eddie Dorohoy: "We stunk."

Jack McIntyre: "We were rotten."

Or would you rather have New Westminster's 5-3 victory over the Cougars, which ended a 22-game home unbeaten streak, transcribed in all its horrid details?

Whichever way one looks at it today, the Royals fully deserved their margin. And that is probably the understatement of the week.

But to get back to the opening remarks.

Patrick had no comment simply because there was none to make. And Lester was slightly burned up at referee Dick Davis for not consulting the goal judge (who flashed the red light) on what would have been the Cougars' fourth goal with seconds left to play in the third period.

Quakers Keep Streak Alive

Don't look now but with Victoria Cougars' home undefeated streak at an end, there's another unbeaten streak in the making.

It belongs to the Saskatoon Quakers, "Johnny Come Lately" to the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

The Quakers Friday night ran their unblemished skein to six games by tying Edmonton Flyers, 3-3, at Edmonton.

Then, of course, there's the Vancouver Canucks. They ran true to form at Vancouver by dropping an 8-2 decision to Seattle Ironmen. It was the Canucks' 12th straight game without a victory this season and their 14th in P.C.L. play. They can tie a league mark set by the 1949-50 Cougars with a loss or a tie against the Royals tonight.

The End Of A Champion

Louis All Through After Being Belted By Marciano

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP).—Joe Louis is through. Boxing has a new idol today in Rocky Marciano. It's the old story of the ring. Youth must be served. At 2.36 of the eighth round in Madison Square Garden Friday night, the old Brown Bomber was stretched on his back on the apron of the ring in a pathetic finish to one of the most fabulous stories in all sports.

Today 27-year-old Rocky, a one-time soldier, shoe worker and ditch digger with little more than three years of pro fighting behind him, was the toast of the town.

The big brass of the International Boxing Club will sit down today with Rocky and offer him a shot at Ezzard Charles, the champion, for February or March and a possible title shot with Jersey Joe Walcott next summer.

For Louis, an old man of the ring at 37½ years, it's the end of the long trail that began 17 years ago and brought him to the world's heavyweight championship and ring earnings of more than $4,500,000.

Joe said he'd wait until Monday to make a decision about his fighting future.

FANS KNOW ANSWER

He doesn't have to say it. The crowd of 15,211 in the Garden and the 50,000,000 or more others who watched via a coast-to-coast telecast, know the answer.

Many of the televiewers probably watched Louis in action for the first time. It's too bad they had to see the inevitable finish. It's too bad they couldn't have seen the tawny tiger who roared out of the west in the mid-30's to rip all before him.

Now the talk was all about Rocky, unbeaten in 38 fights, 33 knockouts almost a carbon copy of the string hung up by the once magnificent Brown Bomber.

WILL JOE QUIT?

Louis' Dressing-Room Scene Of Blood, Tears

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP).—Tears flowed openly and unashamedly in Joe Louis' dressing room—but not from Joe.

There wasn't a dry eye—except those of the former great heavyweight champion. His were bright and clear.

Middleweight champion Ray Robinson sobbed softly. Ex-heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles blinked and blinked. Others in the sweaty room, some of them veteran newspapermen, had large lumps in their throats. The only jumpsuit Louis had on was his cheeks and forehead.

They all realized it was the end of an era. Louis' glorious and history-making rings days were over.

Everybody hated to see it end that way—Louis sprawled out, flat on his back on the ring apron, his legs tangled around the ropes—knocked out by Rocky Marciano, a rough, tough, hard-punching kid out of Brockton, Mass.

Secretly, however, those in the hot steaming room listening to the balding, 37-year-old gladiator mumble replies last night to countless questions were glad Joe had lost.

Maybe now, they reasoned, Louis would see the light. Maybe now he would decide once and for all to quit before he suffered serious injury.

"Please, Joe, quit," they were thinking. "Say it is so."

But Louis, his face bloated, his lips and nose puffed, his left hand swollen and in pain, his legs and body weary, would not say. Always truthful and to the point with his answers, Joe parried this question.

"I'd rather not say now," he muttered in a voice that was barely audible. "I'll let you know Monday in the I.B.C. office."

BRITISH RACING HARD HIT

Dead Goose Doesn't Lay

By ALAN HARVEY
LONDON, Oct. 26 (CP).—British racing is in the red. Latest figures show that 22 out of 55 racecourse companies operated at a loss in 1950.

Horsemen say they know where the trouble lies—a government entertainment tax takes 7s 10d for every £1 of income. That works out to nearly 40 per cent.

Sir Malcolm McAlpine, president of the Racehorse Owners' Association, says the government is getting the golden eggs, but is fast killing the goose that lays them.

"The money is in the industry," Sir Malcolm said in an address at the association's annual meeting, "but it is not the owners or the trainers who are getting it."

He said some trainers are so hard up they have to try to make a little extra by outwitting the bookmaker.

Entertainment tax was raised in the last budget. Admission to the ordinary grandstand enclosure at Ascot now costs £2. At less pretentious courses the entrance fees range upward from 30s, although there are cheaper sections. The members' enclosure costs considerably more.

Facilities for the public are extremely limited, except at such leading tracks as Ascot and Goodwood. But British racing continues to attract large crowds, despite admission fees roughly 10 times as high as at such French tracks as Longchamp and Auteuil.

A REAL EMOTION

The love of a man for a good horse continues to be a real emotion. In a recent article, jockey and journalist J. L. Hislop dwelt lyrically on an imaginary portrait of an English race horse:

"It may lack the stateliness of the Dutch school, the ethereal quality of the French, but it is a work which only England can inspire, for the subject is so integral a part of English life. It must be painted from the heart and not the head; for only in the heart can the glory of the thoroughbred race horse be translated.

"And it is to those whose roots lie in these islands that he, one of the noblest of all beings, is dearest."

After that, it seems cruel to jerk back to present realities. But the fact is that British racing appears certain to be dominated again this season by M. Marcel

MARGE COMES FROM A FAMILY OF BOWLERS—BROTHER & FATHER.

Stampedeers Reorganize; Lear's Status Unchanged

CALGARY, Oct. 27 (CP).—Calgary's courageous football enthusiasts, plagued by a $30,000 deficit and two dismal seasons by their Stampedeers, are rarin' to go for 1952.

Preliminary plans for next season were completed yesterday with organization of a regrouped executive, replacing the 1951 officials who resigned en masse yesterday. A majority of the 1952 officials have been connected with the club for a number of years.

Tom Brook, who resigned as president, is succeeded by Cec Chesher, a prominent Calgary business man, but Brook remains on the 12-man board of "working" directors.

Archie McGillis will continue as team manager but it is expected a business manager will be hired soon. There was nothing new on the position of coach Les Lear, who has one year to go on a five-year contract.

In Edmonton there were unconfirmed rumors that some Stampede officials have been dissatisfied because the rumors said, Brook, McGillis and Lear made decisions without consulting their officials.

Chesher, in announcing 1952 plans said the main objective will be to make the club more of a civic endeavor.

Stampedeers under Lear, a former Winnipeg and professional lineman, won the Grey Cup in 1948 and were in the final the next year.

But since then the team has wallowed in defeat.

In both 1950 and 1951, the team won only four of 14 scheduled games and failed to make the Western Conference playoffs.

With first place in the Victoria and District Soccer League currently conceded to the powerful Legion squad, the interest will shift to the battle for second place Sunday.

Victoria West and Esquimalt are racing neck and neck in the runner-up spot and will meet Sunday at lower Blacon Hill Park to break the deadlock. Game time is 2:45.

In the other Sunday match, Heanews will be host to Duncan Native Sons in Athletic Park at 2:30.

Teams from Victoria Golf Club and Uplands Golf Club will stage a return match at the Victoria Golf Club Sunday.

The first team match week was won by Uplands last week. Draw and starting times follow: Pick up Colonist Draw Boussac, the millionaire French textile magnate. Last year, for the first time in the history of the turf, Boussac won more prize money than any other owner competing in Britain. This year, with only a few weeks of the season left, he is threatening again.

The irony of Boussac's ascendancy is that he does not maintain a stable in Britain. All horses wearing the famous orange colors being sent by sea or air from France to compete in selected races. Boussac's trainer, C. H. Semblat, doesn't even bother to cross the Channel.

Oak Bay Dominates Meet In Swimming, Cheering

If long, loud, ecstatic screams can be taken as a sign of enthusiasm, Friday night's interhigh school swimming gala was a tremendous success.

The glass dome of the Crystal Garden was quivering with cheers sent up by the hundreds of supporters that turned out to lend assistance to their splash teams.

The Oak Bay team piled up a total of 39 points, nine better than their closest rival, Victoria High School.

The Beatty trophy is annually awarded to the winner in the senior high schools bracket.

The Dickinson & Dunn trophy for junior high schools aggregate was presented to Bill Abbott, captain of the Central Junior High School team which won on the strength of 18 points.

When the last relay was over and the scores were tallied, the loudest cheer came from the Oak Bay High School section when they heard that their school had won the Sir Edward Beatty trophy.

PENDRAY TROPHY

S. J. Willis won the grade 7 and 8 girls' relay, thus taking possession of the Pendray trophy.

In the grade 7 and 8 boys' relay, Lamson Street was the winner and was presented with the Canadian Legion Britannia Branch trophy.

Robin Clark, Gillian Watson, Wally Watson, Merlin Hawes and Gail Stott formed the nucleus of the championship Oak Bay squad.

Keen competition was present in every race of the gala and most events were undecided until the final strokes.

Putting on a strong performance for the V.H.S. aqua team were pace-setters Garth Anderson, R. McKenzie, Pete Kerchner, S. Malcolm, Ann Heywood and Ester Mensen.

Final results:

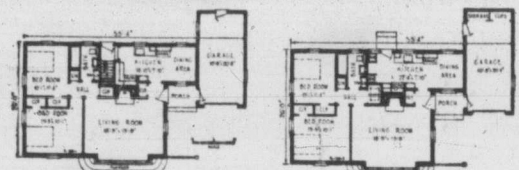

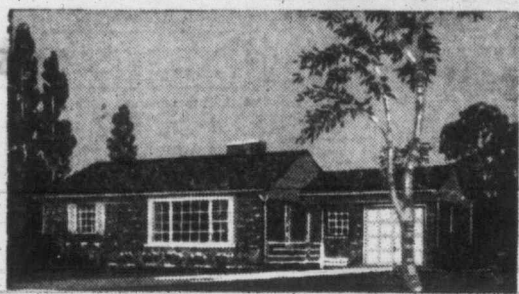

50-Yard free style, boys under 14—1. John Heywood (Central); 2. Alex Roberts (Mt. Newton); 3. R. Fletcher (B. J. Willis); Time 35.

National Freight Rates Bill Meets Opposition

OTTAWA, Oct. 27. (CP)—A bill authorizing an equalization of Canadian freight rates Friday ran into some opposition from Maritime members in the Commons.

They looked with misgivings on the legislation, to be referred to a newly-established 31-man, all-party committee for study. They expressed fear that the measure will destroy the benefits now granted under the Maritime Freight Rates Act.

Transport Minister Chevrier said the bill, product of a two-year study of transportation problems by a Royal commission, specifies that it shall not interfere with the Maritime Freight Rates Act, which provides low rates for Maritime traffic, or the Crow's Nest Pass rates, which do the same for certain western traffic.

George Nowlan (P.C.—Annapolis-Kings) said it was possible that the bill without interfering with the Maritime Freight Rates Act, would result in a doubling of the existing rates in the Atlantic provinces.

At present, he said, when the rate is $1, the Maritimes pay only 80 cents because of the 20 per cent discount provided by the Maritime Freight Rates Act. But the new legislation would authorize the board of transport commissioners to equalize rates across the country.

If the board raised the rate to $2, the Maritimes would pay $1.60. That was too much, John Dickey (L—Halifax) described as "fantastic" the suggestion that the bill would mean a 100-per cent boost in Maritime rates. The government had protected the position of the Maritime rates.

Mr. Chevrier referred to a recommendation of the Royal commission that a national freight rates policy be adopted to provide for uniform rates across Canada.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, suggested that no further across-the-board freight rate increases be granted until the legislation has been studied and equalization provisions put into effect.

He did not believe the $7,000,000 subsidy to bridge the low-populated gap in northern Ontario was sufficient.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he is happy that the Crow's Nest Pass rates are to remain intact, and also asked that there be no across-the-board freight rate increases until the bill be comes law.

B.C. Indians May Drink Beer If Ottawa Listens To Cates

About 27,000 British Columbia native Indians will be allowed to drink beer in the same status as their white brothers if a provincial government proposal is approved by Ottawa.

Labor Minister John Cates, who is in charge of Indian affairs, announced Friday Ottawa has been asked to issue a proclamation bringing into effect in this province Section 95 of the Federal Indian Act.

"This request," said Cates, "was made as a consequence of a very careful study throughout the province by the Indian committee."

The committee found a heavy predominance of sentiment and argument in favor of extending this privilege to the Indians.

At present, he said, when the rate is $1, the Maritimes pay only 80 cents because of the 20 per cent discount provided by the Maritime Freight Rates Act. But the new legislation would authorize the board of transport commissioners to equalize rates across the country.

If the board raised the rate to $2, the Maritimes would pay $1.60. That was too much, John Dickey (L—Halifax) described as "fantastic" the suggestion that the bill would mean a 100-per cent boost in Maritime rates. The government had protected the position of the Maritime rates.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

A Victoria woman is in St. Joseph's Hospital today, recovering from a "burst vocal cord" which she suffered in cheering the Prince and Princess.

The woman, who requested that her name not be used, wrote The Times that she had seen Their Royal Highnesses five times Monday, Early Tuesday, she wrote, she was rushed to hospital with "laryngitis, pharyngitis, infected glands, and what not—even a burst vocal chord."

The term "old age pensioner" will disappear from the official lexicon in B.C. on Jan. 1.

Under the wording of the new legislation passed by the Legislature at its special session, senior citizens will get "old age assistance," not pensions any more.

A pop-bottle barrage Friday night drove off five young boys who attacked a Chinese pair on lower Fisgard.

City police said Jimmy Wing, 515 Fisgard, reported that as his father and another Chinese were entering the premises of 515 Fisgard, the boys, traveling in an old-model car, jumped out and attacked them.

"My father threw pop bottles at them and they left in a hurry," Jimmy said.

Victoria will be one of three Canadian cities used to test a National Film Board plan for urban distribution of films.

Distributing centre will be at Victoria Public Library, where all organizations will be eligible to apply for the new films to be made available each month.

Any complaints on Victoria's weather?

Give a thought to the sudden citizens of Prince Rupert, where a near-record rainfall of 4.30 inches fell in the 24-hour period ending at 4.30 this morning.

Now back to comparatively arid Victoria—the weatherman predicts a cloudy and cool week-end with sunny intervals and light winds. Feel any better now?

Halloween is bringing frowns already to fire as well as police officials.

Saanich firemen said today it is believed carelessly thrown firecrackers started a blaze at the home of C. Stevens, 18 Hampton Road. A veranda and hall were damaged.

A $75 fine was imposed against Robin B. C. Underhill, recently discharged from the navy, for taking a truck without the permission of the owner, when he appeared in city court today.

Fines of $35 were imposed against A. J. Margetish, 1308 Hastings, and Anthony Spouse, Kelvin, for careless driving offences.

Bay Street Armouries' orderly room of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) is now open for donation of reading material for the Scottish company soon to embark for England with the 27th Infantry Brigade. Hundreds of books are needed to keep the troops of the company, mostly Vancouver Islanders, in reading material.

Normally, when a car collides with a moving train the results are disastrous. But in this Friday night case at the Colwood crossing on the Island Highway, the motorist only came out with a cut finger.

R.C.M.P. Highway Patrol reported that a car driven by Albert E. Taylor, 245 Helmcken Road, collided with the slow-moving train at the crossing. About $500 damage was done to the car.

A fine of $15 was imposed in city police court today against Elmer Bryan, 800 Topaz Avenue, for making false statements to get three days of unemployment insurance benefits. He pleaded guilty.

Monthly meeting of the Kipling Society will be held at 317 Cook Street next Wednesday evening at 8.

Acquitted On Murder Charge

VANCOUVER Oct. 27 (UP)—Winfred Stanfill Young, 43, of Portland, Ore., was acquitted Friday of a charge of murdering the first cook aboard the Ss. Washington at Ocean Falls, B.C., last June 26.

The jury deliberated less than 90 minutes before freeing Young of the charge at the end of a four and one-half day trial.

B.C. PROJECTIONISTS' STRIKE WON'T DARKEN CITY'S SCREENS

Victoria may have picture shows while the rest of the province has none. Movie theatre projectionists, belonging to the Vancouver local of the B.C. Motion Picture Projectionists' Union (A.F.L.), have voted overwhelmingly to go on strike to back demands for a 50-cent hourly pay boost.

An official of the B.C. Labor Relations Board explained, however, that the Vancouver local does not have jurisdiction over Famous Player theatres in Victoria, nor over any Odeon theatres on Vancouver Island.

SLIM BEER STOCKS CAN'T BEAT STRIKE

B.C. Clubs And Taverns Might Go Dry Before Negotiations Even Started

The beer stock in licensed premises and private clubs has been drained to such a low level it is certain to run out completely before the current brewery strike ends.

The strike, against Phoenix Brewery in Victoria and three mainland plants, was into its fourth day today.

There is no sign of settlement. No effort has been made by either side to resume negotiations since the walkout began, and no meetings are scheduled.

The dispute centres around wages. Seventy Victoria men are on strike.

Only men working in the Phoenix plant are engineers—one on shift at a time to take care of the plant's intricate refrigeration system—and a brewer—working to prevent the brew in vats from going bad.

$1,500 Gifts For Art Centre; Opening Set

Two gifts, totalling $1,500 have been made to Victoria's new Art Centre at 1040 Moss Street, the Art Centre board announced today.

Immediate alterations will be undertaken and the gallery opened without ceremony Nov. 20. Official opening ceremonies are not expected to take place until early in the New Year.

A baby grand piano was purchased with the aid of a $1,000 gift of Mrs. H. R. Bevan.

Mrs. A. S. Wyllie, president, donated $500 toward necessary alterations of the former Sara Spencer home.

PROPER LIGHTING
The board was urged by Colin Graham, curator, to keep the main floor of the home "in character" as much as possible but proper lighting will be installed for showing pictures.

He reported on the type of alterations required and recommended modernization of three upstairs rooms for showing modern exhibits.

"A classroom will be developed immediately for use of adults and children in the teaching program," a board member said.

"As much work as possible will be done by members of the Art Centre themselves and anyone interested in developing the project will be welcome."

The Broughton Street gallery will be closed until Nov. 17. The new gallery will open with a showing of the work of Quebec painters.

Rug in the main hallway has been donated by Miss Spencer.

CLERGY WILL OPPOSE TRUMAN

VICTORIA, Oct. 27 (UP)—If President Truman runs for reelection, thousands of American clergymen will conduct a puppet campaign to defeat him, the president of the International Council of Christian Churches declared Friday.

Dr. Carl McIntire of Collinswood, N.J., told a missionary group that President Truman's appointment of Gen. Mark W. Clark as U.S. ambassador to the Vatican had stirred the United States with "religious indignation as great as when Texas went Republican" (in the 1928 presidential election).

Princess Continues Conquest On East-Bound Canadian Route

By DON INGHAM
Times Staff Reporter
VANCOUVER—After a glorious dash across the Gulf of Georgia aboard H.M.C.S. Crusader, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip on Friday started the second half of their Canadian tour in New Westminster.

Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver, met the Royal couple at the C.N.R. dock after their record-breaking 70 minutes crossing of the gulf and saw them off in a 12-car cavalcade heading for Burnaby and the Royal City.

Their long voyage east began with a drive on a 14-mile route crowded from one end to the other. They stopped briefly in Burnaby, and after a ceremony in New Westminster boarded their train for Edmonton, where they arrived this afternoon. Proudest men in the fleet today were those of the Crusader, who were hosts to the Royal couple for two crossings of the gulf.

They started cleaning ship for the Royal visit in August, and by sacrificing leaves and weeds had her glistening from bow to stern for the Princess and her sailor husband.

The ship delivered her Royal passengers in Vancouver after an awe-inspiring trip from Nanaimo at 32 knots. She then left Vancouver and proceeded at a more leisurely pace to Esquimalt, arriving at 5.

As she passed the Lions Gate Bridge her captain, Cmdr. H. V. W. Groos, put the ship "at ease" and she once more became a

Election Fever Starting To Burn As Many Ponder Municipal Office

Election fever is growing in municipalities of Greater Victoria, with one reeve definitely in the ring, one almost in and a third undecided.

Commander A. C. Wurtele, runner-up in the recent Esquimalt provincial by-election, has been asked to run for reeve of the municipality in December.

"I have been asked and I am giving it consideration, but haven't decided one way or the other as yet," he said. "I am not up for re-election this year as councillor."

Reeve A. I. Thomas said he had no comment at the present time, adding he had not made up his mind on what he intended to do. Alex Spiers, councillor for the past two-year terms said: "I intend to run again."

Councillor W. H. Dallaway: "I have not definitely decided whether to run or not."

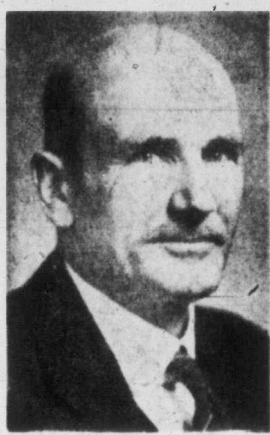

Councillor G. R. Guillemaud, now finishing 14 years on council: "I will be running again for a council seat, in order to work for betterment of Esquimalt. I intend to press for improvements in street lighting, roads and sidewalks, for increased revenue from reverted lands, an increase in the federal grant to Esquimalt and for lowest possible tax rates."

OAK BAY
In Oak Bay, Reeve P. A. Gibbs, whose term expires this year, said when asked if he would run for re-election: "I haven't made up my mind completely, but it looks like I will."

Veteran Councillor J. V. (Johnny) Johnson, one of three Oak Bay councillors, whose term of office expires this year, said he does not know if he will seek re-election.

"I haven't the faintest idea."

Other possible candidates will be Edwin Haw. L.W.A. organizer, 804 Vernon Avenue; and Gilbert

Councillor George Murdoch: "I don't know yet, either. We usually make an announcement closer to election day."

Councillor Fred Norris' term also expires this year.

SAANICH
With the reeve's chair and four council seats coming vacant in December in Saanich, Reeve Joseph W. Casey and Councillors L. H. Passmore and H. K. Bate have already announced they will seek re-election.

Chad Smith, 1213 Maywood Avenue, who made his first and unsuccessful bid for a council seat last year, will be a candidate this year.

Other possible candidates will be Edwin Haw. L.W.A. organizer, 804 Vernon Avenue; and Gilbert

Lucas of Shepherd's Dairy, 485 Marigold Avenue.

Veteran Councillors William C. Kersey and George Austin have both announced flatly they will not seek re-election. Others who stated they will not run this year are former councillor Frank S. Green, 3480 Mayfair Drive, and Alexander Kilpatrick, 3851 Lancaster Road, an active candidate in previous elections.

SEATTLE — People in the United States should stop treating Canadians merely as "the folks next door," and should make an earnest attempt to know and understand their northern neighbors.

That was what Bruce Hutchison, editor of the Victoria Daily Times, told an audience of the English Speaking Union in Seattle Friday night.

Hutchison explained the reason Americans paid little attention to Canadians was because people in this Dominion were a good, reliable sort, who caused no trouble and minded their own business.

He chided: "Madame Peron (of Argentina) can hardly raise an eyebrow without a tremor of alarm going through your country."

Hutchison said the present American attitude toward Canada, while it might be construed as flattering, was inadequate during such time of peril as both nations now face. He said people of the two countries needed to know one another thoroughly if they were to stand together.

WRONG ATTITUDE
He lamented that many Americans thought of Canadians as being like themselves. This attitude, he declared, was entirely wrong.

Oregon's Senator Richard L. Neuberger had thought Canadians and Americans to be of the same make-up until a recent visit to Canada, Hutchison said. He found otherwise.

Canadians, Hutchison declared, have a fierce, though silent, pride of nationhood. Americans overlook this.

IMPORTANCE OF JURY SERVICE
Importance of jury service in our democratic system was outlined by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady at the close of the Assizes in Victoria, Friday.

"It isn't a very disagreeable duty at times, but one we're called upon to perform," he said.

"You are engaged in one of the most important services that as men of a free country you can be called upon to discharge."

He lauded the jurors for the care and consideration they gave throughout the trials and said he hoped they had a still greater respect for the administration of criminal law.

He referred to the "protection that is thrown around every accused" and said burden was placed on the crown to prove guilt but not on the accused to prove innocence.

Ex-Nelson Girl Hops From Manila To Raise Funds For Wider Travels

By DICK PAUL
Miss Edith Thomson, a large, hearty woman who has had a rather fabulous time of it since the travel bug bit her and she left her office job in Nelson a few years ago, was walking about her room at the Empress Hotel in her stocking feet.

"Don't mind me," she declared, reassuringly. "I find it hard to change now, after living in the Far East. Didn't wear stockings for three years. Didn't wear much of anything, in fact."

I mentioned she had registered listing Manila as her residence. "Oh, yes," she declared. "Got back from there not long ago. I'm a Canadian, though."

Miss Thomson started digging through her luggage.

"I was in the mining business there, and somebody wrote up a story about me living in a wild spot on Mindanao. I can't seem to find the article now."

Wasn't Mindanao a wild spot inhabited by head-hunters?

"You're not kidding," Miss Thomson retorted. "But we had no trouble from them, although we were out in the wilds. A 57-hour truck ride from the nearest bit of civilization."

"An American woman, wife of a mining engineer, and myself lived alone at the mine site for many weeks," she related. "It was a tough trip in and out. I'll tell you, and nothing much to drink but hot beer."

Before the war, Miss Thomson was anything but a traveling woman. A native of Rossland, she was for 17 years secretary of the Chamber of Mines in Nelson.

During the Second World War she joined the air force. She was with the British Air Commission in New York. Later, she became associated with a New York mining firm and first thing she knew she was in Manila.

Miss Thomson spent three years as an agent in the Philippines for the New York firm, then got itchy feet again and embarked on a world-wide trip which just landed her back in Canada.

"I just took a plane and went to Hong Kong, India, Siam, Cairo, Damascus, Istanbul, Then Athens, Rome, Switzerland, Barcelona and New York. It cost a fortune. That's why I'm trying to sell this base metals mine up near Whitewater."

"What do mines cost these days?" I asked.

"Well, I want $50,000 for this one," Miss Thomson replied. "It's buried under snow, and may be hard to sell right now. But if I sell it, it'll mean a good commission, and I'll probably be off again. . . . I'd like to go to India."

Pinfold First To Admit Bid For One Of 7 Council Seats

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

Victoria may have a fourth mayoralty candidate in Ald. Millard H. Mooney.

While he has made no statement as to whether he will run again for alderman or not, it was learned in civic circles today that he is being pressed from many sides to seek the chief magistracy.

First alderman to announce he will stand for re-election is Ald. William Pinfold, who in the second year of his first term was given such senior appointments as chairman of parks and membership on finance committee.

Ald. Mooney, who was elected last year to fill out the term left vacant by retirement of Ald. Charles Banfield, has made no secret of his belief that a conscientious alderman finds far more to do than he anticipated.

"As for reducing the council to six, I don't agree with it at all," he said. "We need the number of aldermen we have."

"I could easily have put in many more hours in personal inspection of certain projects which I feel an alderman should inspect, but I could not afford the time," said Ald. Mooney.

DEMAND ON TIME
He said young business men were being constantly urged to run for council, but even the time demanded when the council stood at 10, meant too much borrowed from business.

Ald. Pinfold in announcing his candidature for alderman said:

"I belong to no group, party or clique, and do whatever I think best for the city. The last two years have been valuable experience. I have a lot of experience I didn't think I would have."

Already seeking the mayor's chair are Claude Harrison, recently retired city prosecutor; Ald. Aubrey Kent, who ran Mayor Percy George's neck-and-neck battle for the post two years ago, and Ald. J. D. Hunter, former M.L.A.

SEVEN VACANCIES
As a result of the Kent-Hunter candidacies, there will be seven of 10 aldermanic seats to vote on Dec. 13. Five vacancies will be for the regular two-year terms. Two will be by-election seats for one-year terms.

In the aldermanic ring is J. A. McLellan, retired chief of police for Victoria.

In addition to those of Ald. Pinfold and Ald. Mooney, terms of Ald. Margaret Christie, Waldo Skillings and Percy Scourah also expire this year.

None of the three said they were ready yet to make announcements. Skillings and Scourah are considered almost "sure bets" to run again.

It is known Ald. Christie some time ago definitely considered retiring at the end of her term this year, but there is now a strong possibility that she may run again.

Roy J. Whittle, who was successful in his first bid for council last year, but unable to take his seat owing to property disqualification—is definitely "considering" running this year, but is not ready yet to make a statement.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

If one well-known horseman had his way there would be a hunt club in Victoria, complete with baying hounds, red coats, white weskits, a cheery hunt breakfast at the beginning of the run and a stirrup cup at the end.

In the coffee shop of a morning, when Bob Hawkes dreams out loud, that's the sort of thing he tells you.

"We wouldn't hunt a fox out here; it wouldn't be feasible," he says, "but we could follow a drag."

He describes a crisp autumn day, leaves turned to golden brown. Perhaps a hint of frost in the air. He takes you over hill and dale in such a realistic fashion that you suddenly find your coffee is cold. You've forgotten all about it. Where would a hunt take place, you ask.

"Bessie" Bob. And he's ready with that answer too. Out on the Saanich Peninsula, he tells you. "Farm after farm out there," he says, "with good rolling fields."

"We could ride from Keating right through almost to Sidney." Then he adds: "And there are so many Saanich people interested in riding it shouldn't be hard to get permission to hunt across the fields."

Bob's idea isn't new in Canada. Back in Ontario they have been following the hounds—and hunting real foxes—for many years. Up in King County, not far from Toronto, there is a flourishing hunt club. Lady Eaton, who has a country home there, is an active member.

The club meets and often starts its runs from Lady Eaton's home. Runs that take them over many old farms in the county. The farms, in many instances, are now owned by Toronto folk, who use them for week-ends and for holidays.

"Pine Gates," situated not far from the Eaton estate, is one of these farms. It is owned now by Dr. and Mrs. Donald Jaquith, formerly of Victoria, now of Toronto, and they have had a lot of fun building a log country house on one of its hill-sides and planting a rustic garden.

Mrs. Jaquith—the former Nancy Stark of this city—told me about King County hunts when I visited "Pine Gates" last year.

When the leaves are scarlet on the trees and the skies are blue and clear, a brown-coated man comes knocking at the door. "Lady Eaton wishes to hunt this week-end over your fields," he says. "If any damage is done, it will be attended to."

The Jaquiths, with others in the district, give their consent—and on the week-end they sit on their hillside, high above the meadows.

They hear the dogs baying and see them leaping ahead of red-coated huntsmen and women galloping across the fields.

"It is a picture," Nancy and Don say, "and we enjoy watching it."

If Bob Hawkes' dream comes true—and he feels it will before long—then we will be able to take our cars of a Saturday afternoon, go out along the East Saanich Road, and watch the red-coated huntsmen and women galloping across the meadows from "Keating almost to Sidney."

Advisors—Norma Taaffe and Mary-Ann Phillips were introduced as member advisers at recent meeting of Xi Chapter. Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held at the home of Francis Barker. A cultural program under direction of Lois Moir explained the program for the year. Next meeting will be Thursday in Nell's Club rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shalleross are leaving Vancouver on Monday for Honolulu, where they will be guests at Moana Hotel. En route they will visit their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pringle at St. Helene, Calif., and will sail aboard the Ss. Lurline on Nov. 2. In Hawaii they expect to visit Mr. Roger Monserret and Mr. and Mrs. William Rose at Keuei Island, 60 miles from Honolulu and will return to San Francisco on Nov. 27.

White Satin And Lace Worn By Bride On Wedding Day

Phyllis May, daughter of Mrs. M. Collie, 546 Harbinger and the late Mr. R. E. Collie, recently became the bride of Ronald Lawrence Mellings, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Earl, 2137 Spring Road. The ceremony took place at Metropolitan United Church, decorated with chrysanthemums for the occasion. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse officiated.

The dark-haired bride, given in marriage by Harold Bown, was lovely in a gown of white satin with lace insert on the bodice. The lace peplum swept to the back and under it the full skirt flowed into a long train.

An embroidered net veil, held in place by a tiara-style head-dress fell in graceful folds to her waist, and she carried white carnations and red roses.

Powder blue net over satin was choice of maid of honor, Miss Elaine Thomas. Bronze chrysanthemums formed her bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Irwin and Miss Nonie Hilton, in similarly-styled dresses of net over mauve satin. Both carried pink chrysanthemums. Each attendant wore a wreath of flowers in her hair.

Best man was Edward Turner, and ushers, Hazen Stanford and Alan Earl.

At a reception held at the home of the groom's parents, a three-tier cake, flanked by carnations, centred the bride's table. George Earl gave the toast.

Before motoring through the United States to Calgary, the bride changed into a blue worsted suit with navy accessories.

Plan Tea—At the recent meeting of Native Daughters of B.C., Room No. 3, plans were made for a tea and sale of home cooking and novelties at the home of Miss Jean Lorimer, 122 South Turner Street, Nov. 17, from 2.30 to 5.

Mesdames G. Burnett, I. Brown, Mesdames Margaret Andrews, Jean Lorimer and Marjorie Gillies are in charge. Chief Factor Mrs. G. Burnett presided, and it was announced a social will be held Nov. 7 at the home of Miss M. Gillies, 126 Croft Street, with shower for a grocery hamper and donations for novelty stall.

Ethel Bruce are members of a special committee on daily arrangements.

Marries In Vancouver

Victoria shares interest with the mainland in the marriage of Irene May, only daughter of C. Lloyd and the late Mrs. Lloyd of Vancouver, and Gerald William, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Redmond of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria.

Father Doherty celebrated the nuptial mass at St. Augustine's Catholic Church in Vancouver in early October.

For the double-ring ceremony the bride chose a princess-style white velvet gown fashioned with stand-up collar, lily-point sleeves and scalloped train.

Her heirloom veil featured a chantilly lace border and she carried a white prayer book mounted with white orchids.

The attendants wore gowns styled identically to the bride's.

Mrs. F. Wall, sister of the groom, was matron of honor in rust velvet and bridesmaids Mrs. R. Mercer and Miss Diane Cunningham chose gold and green respectively. They carried bronze and gold mums and wore matching head-dresses.

Michael Redmond was best man. Ushers were Len Marrying, William Parry and Ron Stewart.

A reception followed at Lynton Studios where C. Powell proposed the toast to the bride.

Later the couple left for San Francisco and Los Angeles with the bride wearing a brown and white tulle with burnt-orange accessories.

They are residing in Vancouver.

In The Autumn Mood

Now that the excitement of the Royal tour has abated and only the pleasant memory remains, Victoria turns again to the autumn social scene.

Pictured today are three debutantes, all of whom are well known in Victoria. With 12 other debutantes they made their official bows to society yesterday evening in Vancouver. The deb coterie was presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace, who lent their distinguished patronage to the ball. Autumn wedding bells have been ringing—as the attractive wedding party and a charming bride show.

Esquimalt And Sidney Families Joined In Marriage At Naval-Garrison Church

St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, was scene of the wedding of Audrey Virginia, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. M. W. B. Smith, 920 Bewdley Avenue, formerly of Ancaster, Ont., and Douglas Charlton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Webb, Fifth Street, Sidney, V.I.

George Bower was at the organ and Rev. A. E. Hendy heard the marriage vows.

Tall standards of white chrysanthemums were placed at the altar and bebe chrysanthemums tied with white satin ribbon marked the guest pews. Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was a radiant picture in an original imported model gown of heavy ivory slipper satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with long pointed bodice trimmed with small covered buttons down the front. A panel of lace at the back of the skirt extended the full length of the train.

Edged with lace, the long tulle veil fell in graceful folds from a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls.

The bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and stephanotis. For "something old" the bride wore a gold link bracelet, gift of her godfather at her christening.

Floor-length taffeta gowns, headresses of braided taffeta and flowers and elbow-length mittens were chosen by the four attendants.

Miss Norma Nunn, maid of honor, and Miss Elisabeth Boshier were in turquoise with pale yellow velvet sashes and carried yellow chrysanthemums, while Miss Donna Smith and Miss Caroline Smith attended their sister in yellow accented with brown velvet sashes. Their bouquets were bronze chrysanthemums.

Best man for the occasion was Richard Stanton of Ladysmith, V.I., and Brian Orr, George Ayward and Frederiek Gane served as ushers.

Chrysanthemums in autumn shades decorated the R.C.A. Sergeants' Mess, Gordon Head, where WO1. R. B. Wallace proposed the toast.

The bride's table was covered with a hand-made lace cloth centred with the three-tier wedding cake flanked by white candles in silver candelabra.

A powder blue woolen suit topped with a grey coat was the choice of the bride for a honeymoon motor trip Up Island. Her accessories were brown and her corsage of pink and white carnations.

Upon their return to Victoria the newlyweds will live at 414 Durbin Road.

Chantilly Lace With Nylon Gown

A charming picture was created Friday evening, when Annie Archer became the bride of David Archibald Stevenson.

The attractive bride chose a white chantilly lace gown fashioned with a nylon net skirt gathered to a scalloped waistline. The lace jacket featured lily point sleeves. From a beaded coronet billowed a full-length veil of illusion net. Her cascade bouquet was of red roses and heather, and her only jewelry was a string of pearls.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Standard baskets of fall flowers formed an attractive setting in Wilkinson Road United Church when Rev. J. Currie Thomson read the nuptial service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Archer, who came from Coaldale, Alberta, for the wedding, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Stevenson, 3000 Tillikum Road.

Miss Diane Clifford sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Color contrast was provided by a bevy of attendants.

Mrs. Kay Vickers, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, wore an embroidered mauve lace and net gown with matching stole and gloves.

Miss Lilly Archer and Miss Florence Archer attended their sister as bridesmaids in sky-blue faille and yellow net, styled similarly to that of the matron of honor. Chrysanthemums, headresses and colonial bouquets completed the effect.

Little niece of the groom, Gayle Vickers, was flower girl in cream sheer styled with Peter Pan collar, ruffles and bows.

James Rainer was groomsmen and Ross Irving and Marvin Tait ushered.

White chrysanthemums and lighted tapers flanked the three-tier cake at the reception held at Hampton Hall. Staff-Sergt. John Sawicki gave the toast.

For a honeymoon motoring in Washington State, Mrs. Stevenson donned a royal blue tailleur with grey flannel topcoat and black accessories. Red roses and white chrysanthemum en corsage complemented her ensemble.

In the city for the wedding were Mrs. D. Callander of Grenfell, Sask., and Misses Rose and Elizabeth Harrison from New Westminster.

Young Victorian Makes Debut At Vancouver Ball

Miss Elizabeth Oliver, right, daughter of Brig. and Mrs. H. H. M. Oliver, 1630 Rockland Avenue, made her formal bow to society yesterday evening in Vancouver at the annual Trafalgar Day Ball. Also presented was Miss Beverly Jackson, centre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Jackson and Miss Mary Dowsley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Dowsley, both of whom are well known in this city. The three girls are first-year students at University of British Columbia. A last cup of tea and an urgent telephone call about "that important date" occupied the trio when they attended a pre-ball rehearsal at Hotel Vancouver. (Photo by Marlow of British Columbia.)

maid, and Mr. William Polkey, matron of honor. Standing, Eric Jones, Douglas Jones and PO. Cecil Ferguson, R.N., ushers, and James Hawes, best man. (Photo by Joncas.)

St. John's Anglican Church Bright With Flowers For Alan Wilson-Mary Coe Wedding Ceremony

Before an altar arranged with pink and white carnations, Evelyn Mary, daughter of C. N. Coe, 61 Hampton Road, exchanged vows with Alan Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wilson, 2960 Henderson Road, last evening at St. John's Anglican Church.

Rev. Canon George Biddle performed the ceremony and during signing of the register Mrs. Bert Noble sang "O Perfect Love."

A chantilly lace yoke accented the white satin gown of the bride who was given in marriage by her father. The long lily-point sleeves contrasted with a very full skirt. From a coronet of pearls and small French beads a veil encircled with chantilly lace cascaded into a peacock train.

Wearing identical strapless gowns with French lace jackets were maid of honor Miss Barbara Coe, sister of the bride, in pale mauve and bridesmaid Miss Josephine Wilkinson, cousin of the bride, in pastel green.

Two other bridesmaids, Miss Jeanie Panthorpe, cousin of the bride, and Miss Joyce Coe, sister of the bride, chose gowns with a net skirt and nylon yoke in yellow and blue respectively.

The four attendants each carried a cascade bouquet of bebe chrysanthemums in a shade complimenting her gown and wore a necklace and earrings, gifts of the bride.

Dainty flower girls were the sister of the groom, Darlene Wilson in pink taffeta and Linda Butler in blue. They carried baskets of mixed sweetheart roses, baby chrysanthemums and carnations.

Best man was Bill Raybone and ushers, Orval Wilson, Don Wilson and Bill Green.

B. Proctor proposed the toast at a reception held in Loughheed's banquet hall.

The bride changed into a dove grey suit with burgundy top coat and matching accessories for an up-island honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will make their home at 3160 Quadra Street. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. L. Moore, Youbou, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. G. Burnett, Seattle; Mrs. J. Wilkinson and Miss D. Anderson, Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. T. Beale, Parksville; Mr. and Mrs. S. Johnson, Salt Spring Island.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If Beauty Care Bore You,
Keep Your Eyes On The Goal

Daily beauty care is such an unexciting, mundane sort of thing. We more or less take it for granted. If we are interested enough in remaining or becoming as attractive as possible, we do the things we know we should do—but they are laborious.

The only way to become faithful in these matters is to keep the eyes on the goal ahead; to remember when lubricating the skin that it will help us avoid lines later on or diminish the ones we have; that when we brush the hair and massage the scalp it will mean prettier tresses and may even have an effect on delaying or retarding grey hair; that when we exercise we are shooting toward a beautiful figure; that when we improve posture it can take 10 years from our age; that when we attend to all of the small details of good grooming—it will give us a well turned out and charming appearance we could not otherwise have.

Most women are at least partly conscious of these truths but many of them fail to realize that there is more to beauty care than that. Yes, you know that good health is the foundation of physical and personality attractiveness, but you may not be aware of how literally true this is.

Actually, your diet not only affects your health but directly affects your skin and hair. Vitamin deficiencies can cause abnormally dry and rough skin. There is some indication that these deficiencies contribute to greyness. Malnutrition can cause dark circles about your eyes, give you rashes and take the sparkle from your personality.

Exercise not only firms the body but stimulates the glands and keeps you in good running order. I actually believe that regular individually suitable exercise can delay aging.

So, rather than thinking of your diet, your exercises, your skin and hair care as laborious, remember the exciting and truly important part they can play in your life. Stick to them day after day. If you have neglected yourself, then you have a challenge. Meet it and see how much you can do in the way of improvement. Your pep and your looks will zoom.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 19, "A Perfect Daily Routine for Women," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Many Skills Bring Life To Theatre

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

The theatre—any theatre—has a quality of magic for most people. It is a potent magic that does not wear off on closer acquaintance; the more one has to do with the world of lights, paint, canvas and make-up, the harder it is to turn one's back on it.

It is usual to think of theatre magic in terms of dressing up and playing a part; of assuming a personality and stepping into a niche that removes us from the commonplace of being ourselves.

But a visit to the Victoria Theatre Guild on Langham Court almost any night of the season presents another aspect. There are rehearsals on stage several evenings a week, but in between as well as concurrently, equally important activity is being carried out by men and a sprinkling of girls—who are absorbed in creating the scenic illusions of the theatre.

Here, in the camaraderie of the sceneshop, guild members work, using tools which they handle with professional skill or as amateur craftsmen. From a variety of daytime occupations, they are drawn together in the common bond of "theatre."

Working, for instance, on the current production of "Born Yesterday," are people who have brought vocational training to bear as well as those who are indulging an avocational flair.

STUDENT ARCHITECT
People like Terry Gower who has designed the set for "Born Yesterday," using curtains, units and three different levels, Gower, a student architect, has dreamed up a streamlined, super-modern interior.

Then there is Ken Dunsire, head of construction, who does his daily eight hours as a lead hand on the new post office job.

In charge of the strange array of lighting equipment, Harold Grant is an amateur electrician but he knows all the answers. And when he is not splicing wires and checking "loads" at the theatre, he is that mysterious type known as a research scientist with the Pacific naval laboratories.

Chuck Hamilton, a hardwood floor-layer, and Doug Murray Allan, a student accountant, are on regular construction crew. So are Clark Gilbert, chemical engineer with the provincial government, Len Robinson of the post office staff, and Wolfgang Koenig, a young German only two months in Canada, an expert cement finisher.

Ask them why they spend hours of their time on work the public scarcely recognizes or appreciates. They can't explain exactly. Just put it down to that old "theatre magic."

Brings Youth Rare Music In Symphony

A full symphony program will greet youth of Greater Victoria and its environs Sunday afternoon when Hans Gruber conducts the Victoria Symphony Orchestra in the first of four student concerts at the Royal Theatre.

The program, to open at 2:30, will consist of an overture from the "Merry Wives of Windsor," by Nicolai; orchestral suite from "Carmen," by Bizet, and Tchaikovsky's "Symphonie Pathétique" No. 6 in B Minor.

Mrs. J. Ingram Smith, secretary of the Symphony Society, said the same program will be given Monday night at 8:30 by the orchestra at the Royal.

WANT 1,000 MEMBERS
She declared aim of the society is to get one thousand youth memberships, which cost $1 each.

"Already we have more than last year, which was the first full year for youth concerts," she stated.

Students from Grade 5 up are eligible for memberships. College students and student nurses will also be able to obtain tickets for the four student concerts.

Others will be Dec. 9, Feb. 3 and March 30. All will be on Sunday afternoons at 2:30.

While there is no guest artist slated for this Sunday's concert, there will be a guest artist for each of the remaining three.

Movie Industry Faces Sharp Criticism To Win Back Fans

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27 (AP).—The film industry generally believes its country-wide movietime, U.S.A., stunt was a success, despite some hazards faced by some of the famed tourists.

Here is one example of what the filmsters faced: A troupe headed by Danny Kaye, Sally Eilers, Nancy Davis, William Perleberg and Otto Kruger visited Springfield, Ill., and was honored at a civic luncheon. The governor and the mayor offered the usual speeches of welcome.

But the meeting was startled to hear the master of ceremonies, a film critic, blast away at Hollywood's morals, Communists and poor films.

NO SALE
Danny Kaye followed and tried to joke about the local parallel.

Scarcely noticed this week was the first anniversary of the death of the world's greatest entertainer—Al Jolson.

BEDTIME STORY

—by Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Rabbit should have been at home in the dear Old Briar-patch, but he wasn't. This was the hunting season, the season of dread and guns, and Peter knew of the perfectly well that the safest place for him was in the dear Old Briar-patch.

He was in the middle of a bramble-tangle close to the fence that separated the Old Pasture from other land. Without knowing how he knew, Peter did know that it wasn't safe to go under that fence out of the Old Pasture. Perhaps he knew because he had heard the bang of a dreadful gun somewhere beyond that fence.

However, he felt perfectly safe there in the bramble-tangle just inside the fence. It was broad daylight and he should have been at home. He dozed. He had been out all night. Suddenly he opened his eyes. He peeped out, looking under the fence. Over in the other field someone was moving about. Peter couldn't see who it was. They were not running. They seemed to be hopping. They would make a few hops; then settle down in the grass.

"I do believe it is one of the Grouse children," thought he. Just then the young Grouse, who had been flattened down in the grass so Peter couldn't see him got up and stood for a moment on one foot, holding the other off the ground. He turned his head to look behind him and there was fear, dreadful fear in his eyes. Then the young Grouse started to try to walk, but when he put that foot he was holding up to the ground, and tried to take a step with it, he almost fell over. He held it up again and hopped two or three steps on the other foot. Then he settled down in the grass again.

"He's badly hurt," thought Peter. "I wonder why he doesn't fly. That would be the quickest way of getting over here."

Just then Peter saw far over in the field a dog working back and forth among the bushes. He wasn't running, but working slowly as if he were trying to find something. A moment later Peter saw a man and knew at once that it was a hunter. Could it be that they were looking for that Grouse? The latter was on his feet again doing his best to hop fast and not succeeding very well.

"Hurry, hurry," exclaimed Peter, under his breath. The young Grouse was heading straight to where Peter sat. He didn't stop to rest now, but did his best to keep hopping along. He came nearer and nearer. Peter could see the fright and distress in his eyes. At long last he crept under the fence.

"Come right in this bramble-tangle. You'll be safe there," cried Peter, and led the way.

Manslaughter Charge Fails Against Pegg

Sydney Pegg, 27, was acquitted by an Assize Court jury Friday afternoon on a charge of manslaughter.

Charge resulted from the death of Mrs. Gladys Frew, 48, who, with her husband, was a passenger in Pegg's car, when it was involved in a traffic mishap on Gorge Road Sept. 29.

Defense Counsel Jack Rutten in his summation to the jury claimed the prosecution had not proved that Mrs. Frew's death resulted from the accident. Pegg testified he was driving husband and wife home from the Sirocco, where Mrs. Frew had been taken ill.

The jury went out first about 11.30, returning an hour later to ask permission to view the scene of the accident.

Mr. Justice J. M. Coady advised the jury that as all evidence had been given in the case they must ask no questions of anyone, but merely view the scene.

The jury returned with a verdict minutes after sentences were handed down in five other Assize court cases.

Business Against Education Theme Of Club Lunch Speaker

Bernard Gilie, principal of Willows School, gave a forceful address on the basic conflict between education and business, speaking to Kiwanians at Empress Hotel Friday.

He stated that although it is taught in the schools that honesty is the best policy, in the business world it is not always remembered. "In short, we do not practise what we preach," Gilie said.

The school principal pointed out that advertising is the most common form of lying.

If an advertisement stating that a certain product is the best of its kind in the world is arranged attractively enough, in the reader's mind it becomes the truth.

Gilie continued that in schools it is common practise to teach gambling is immoral. But, in everyday life, there are sweepstakes held to raise money for hospital funds, and the public is urged to participate in these forms of gambling.

Door Opened To Poultry's Importation

Ottawa has removed the prohibition on the importation of live poultry into Canada.

Provincial officials said Friday main effect of the decision will be felt by breeders, who now will be able to import essential breeding stock which they have wanted for a long time.

The animal contagious diseases regulations require that a permit be obtained from the federal department of agriculture before any poultry is imported from any country other than the United States.

All imports require a certificate by a recognized authority in the country of origin to the effect that the live poultry is free from, and have not been exposed to, Newcastle disease; fowl pest or fowl typhoid.

Will Repair Camp

Buildings at the Sunshine Camp at Saseenos, operated by the Family and Children's Service, are going to get some needed free repairs.

R. L. Blalowski, executive director of the Community Welfare Council, said today volunteers from the carpenters' union expect to start work next Saturday, using materials donated by Victoria and Sooke building supply firms.

Narcotics Appeal Judgment Awaited

Judgment was reserved today by the B.C. Appeal Court where three Vancouver men are fighting conviction on charges of possessing drugs.

The appeal was made by John Milina, Sr., John Milina, Jr., and Harold Milina. Milina, Sr., was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary and the others to three years each. All were fined.

Mayor Presents City Hall Staff

When a seaman stands to attention he stands still... and still includes the eyes. The sailor guard in the middle was the only one in the crowd outside City Hall whose eager gaze was not riveted on the Princess.

Greeting R.C.M. Stothard of the Canadian Scottish "Fighting First."

Victoria's P.N.E. Princess Inez McLeod and little Marlene Ghan got a good view of the Princess on way to City Hall.

Memorable Day For Victoria's Mayor

It was an important event for Canada's Dick Whittington, Victoria's London-born Mayor Percy George. Former newsboy on the streets of London who has followed in the steps of the famous Whittington, to officiate in his capacity of chief magistrate during the Royal visit was a highlight of his career.

Pictorial Souvenir of Visit to Vancouver Island Oct. 22-3-4, 1951 of H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh

THE ROYAL COUPLE ARRIVE IN VICTORIA

Starting a three-day visit to Vancouver Island H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived in Victoria Sunday afternoon in H.M.C.S. Crusader. Opening the memorable reception which the thousands on Vancouver Island subsequently gave them the sun broke through the clouds and a brilliant rainbow formed an arch of welcome. Lieutenant-Governor Clarence B. Wallace walks beside Her Royal Highness, with Rear Admiral W. B. Creevy, Mrs. Wallace and Premier Byron Johnson behind them.

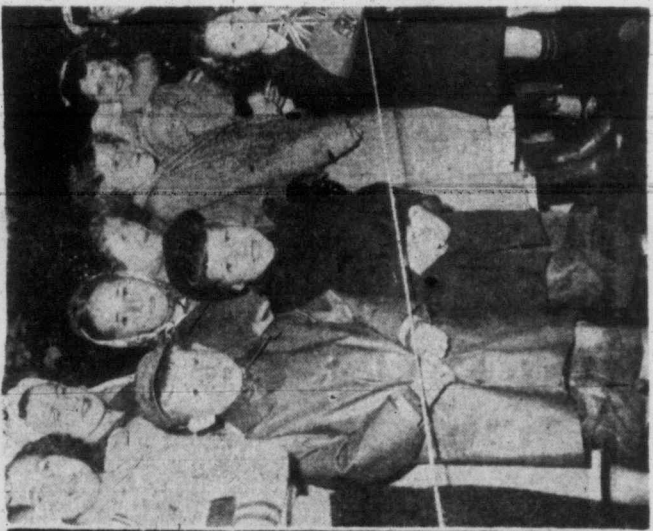

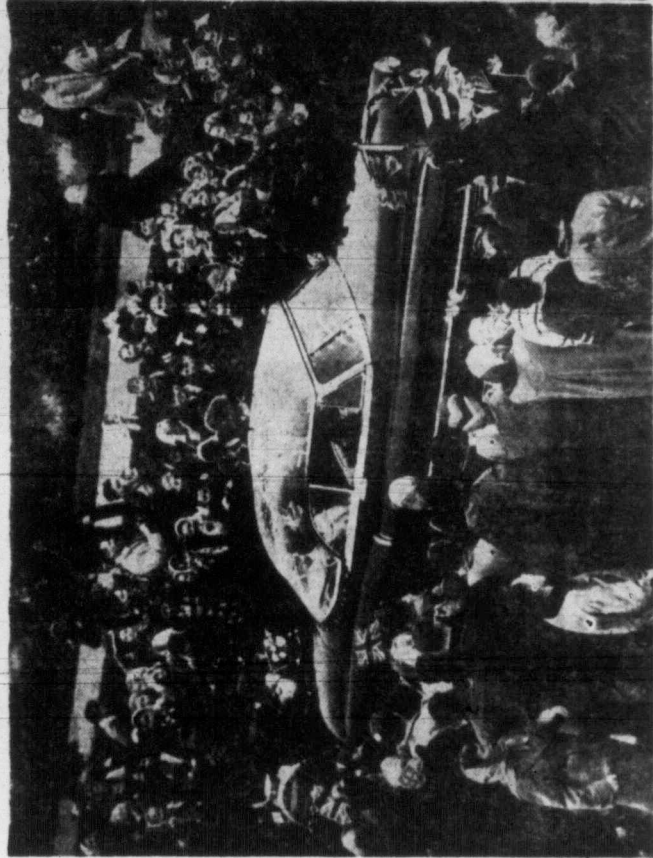

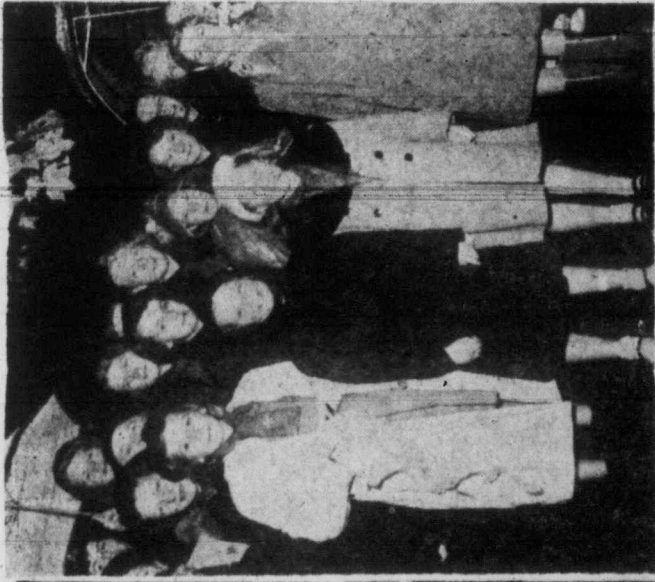

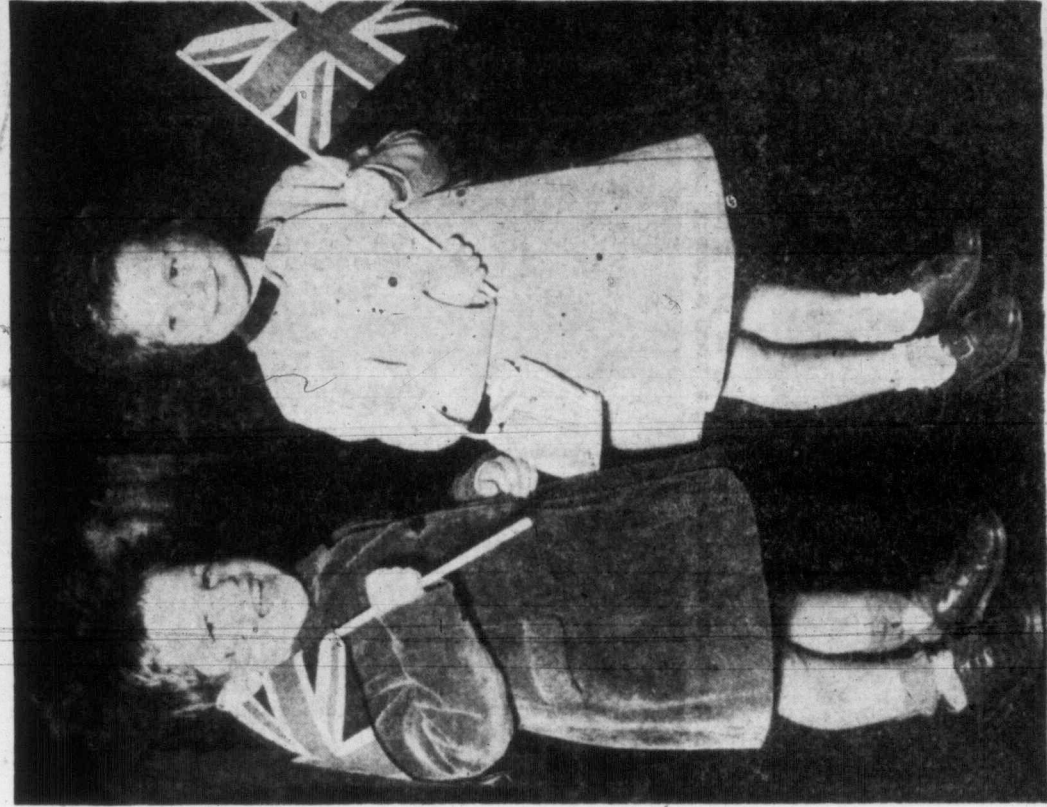

Royal Smile For B.C.'s Premier

Welcome At Parliament Buildings

First of the important ceremonies the Royal couple attended was the welcome by the B.C. Government on the steps of the Parliament Buildings. Princess Elizabeth is sparing with her smiles cameramen complain but it is lovely and sincere when she gives one. Premier Johnson got one. Later veterans in the D.V.A. Hospital got them.

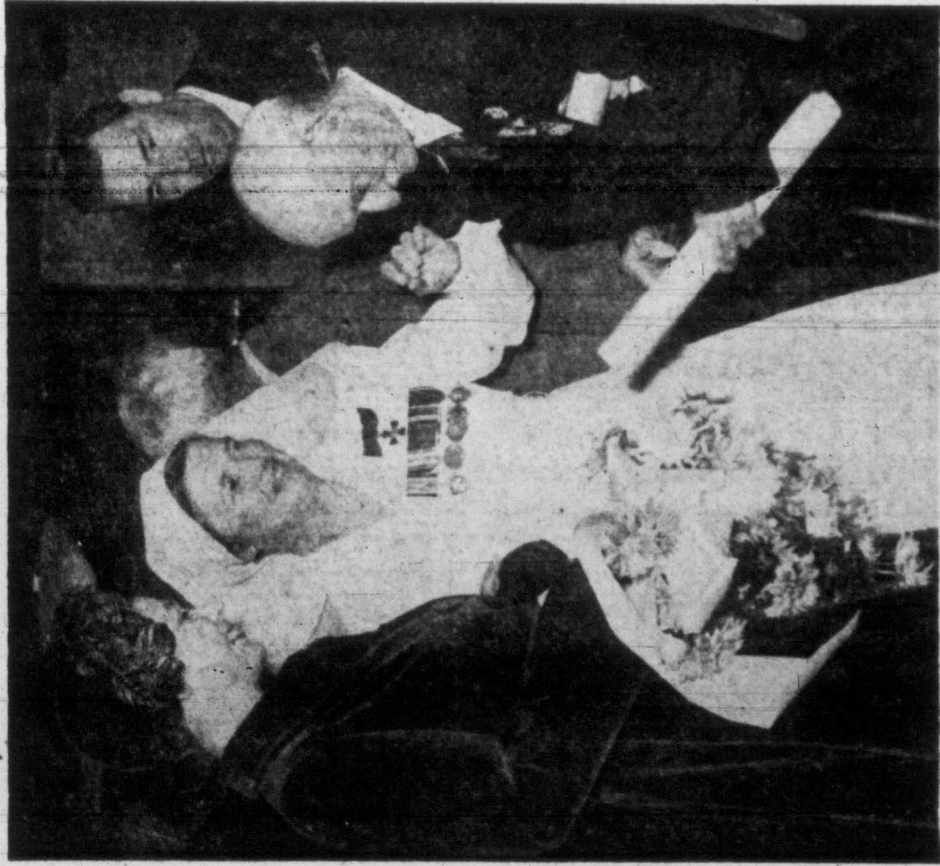

Children First Was Order Of The Day

Something They Will Remember All Their Lives

Days before Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived citizens were asked to give the children the front row. There were some adults who couldn't resist the chance for a close up view but generally the request was respected. Pictures show children at different vantage points in Victoria.

Veterans Of Three Wars Delighted

Ninety-one-year-old William Tinckler, oldest ex-soldier in the Veterans' Hospital meets the Princess. Matron S. J. Roberts accompanied Her Royal Highness around the wards.

The wonderful smile warms hearts as she makes the rounds with Dr. A. C. Watson, medical superintendent.

The Princess stopped often to inquire about veteran's war service.

A bouquet was presented to the Princess by air force veteran Frederick Chown of Duncan.

Soldiers In Hospital Met Royal Couple

When rain prevented veterans in the D.V.A. Hospital from sitting outside to meet the Princess and Prince, the Royal couple went inside the hospital and chatted with a number of them. Friendly, informal and smiling Elizabeth looked at war souvenirs, showed a surprising knowledge of them and won the hearts of all the oldsters.

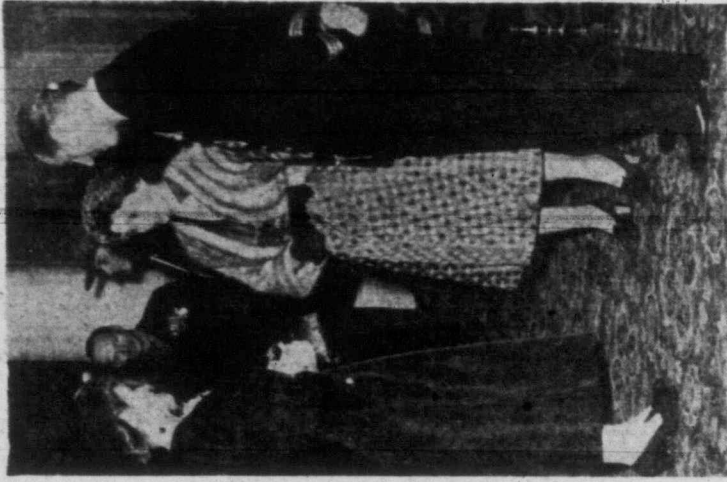

'Such A Happy, Natural Young Couple'

Sailor-Prince and his wife were at home on bridge of H.M.C.S. Crusader which brought them from Vancouver to Victoria. With them is Rear-Admiral W. B. Creevy.

Lanes of people five and six deep were on hand at any point the Royal car traveled.

Mrs. E. Stoutley, who served in the English Territorial Auxiliary Service, gets a smile from the Princess.

Hon. Gordon McG. Sloan, Chief Justice is presented.

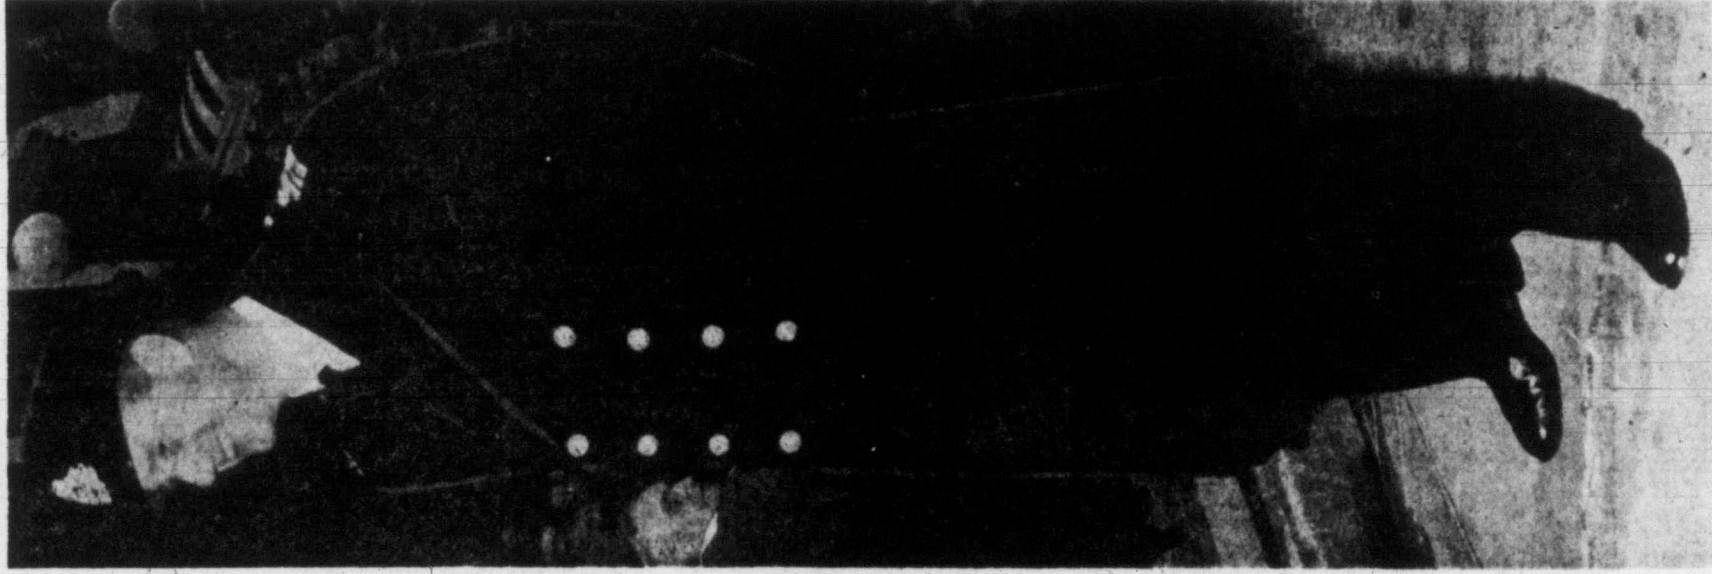

The Duke Won Everybody's Admiration

For themselves as much as the noble rank they represent "Elizabeth and Phil," as Victorians spoke of them after their first day, won the hearts of Victorians. The Duke achieved an unusual double triumph. His radiant personality and obvious friendliness not only enchanted women in the crowds but won the ungrudging admiration of the men.

Royal Couple In Heart Of Victoria

H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth

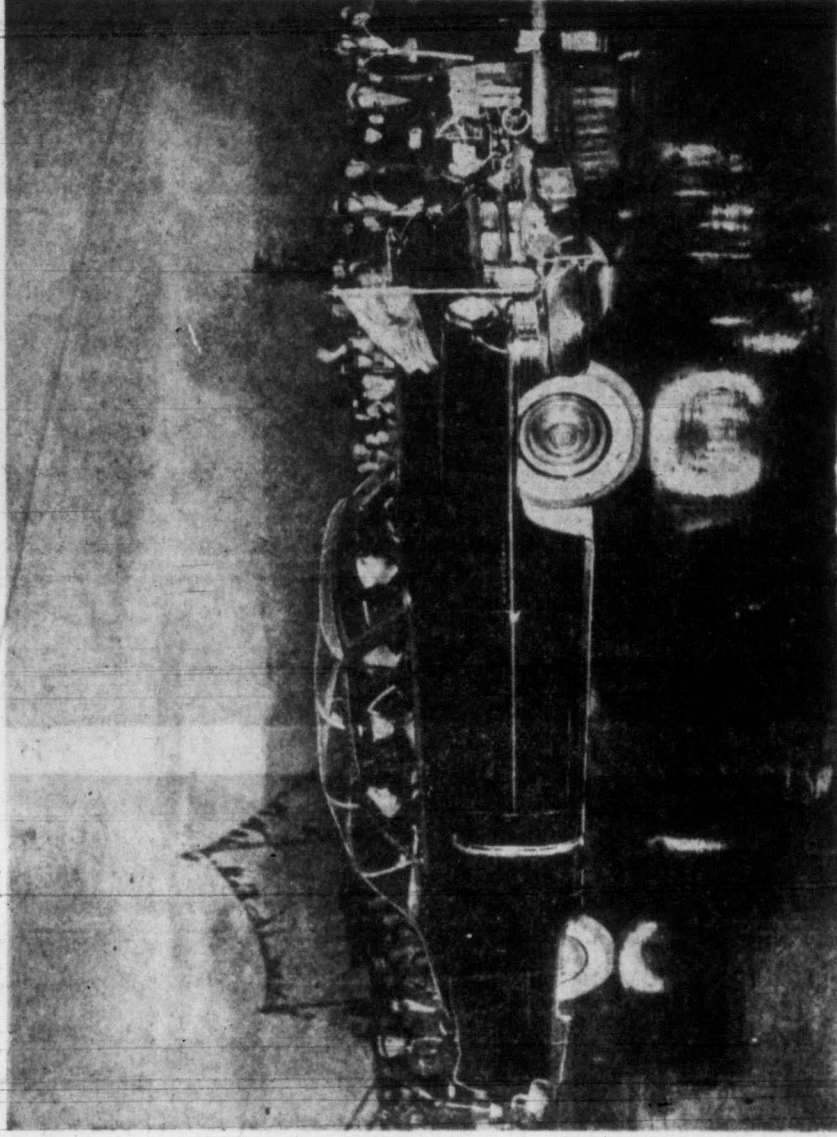

H.R.H. Duke of Edinburgh

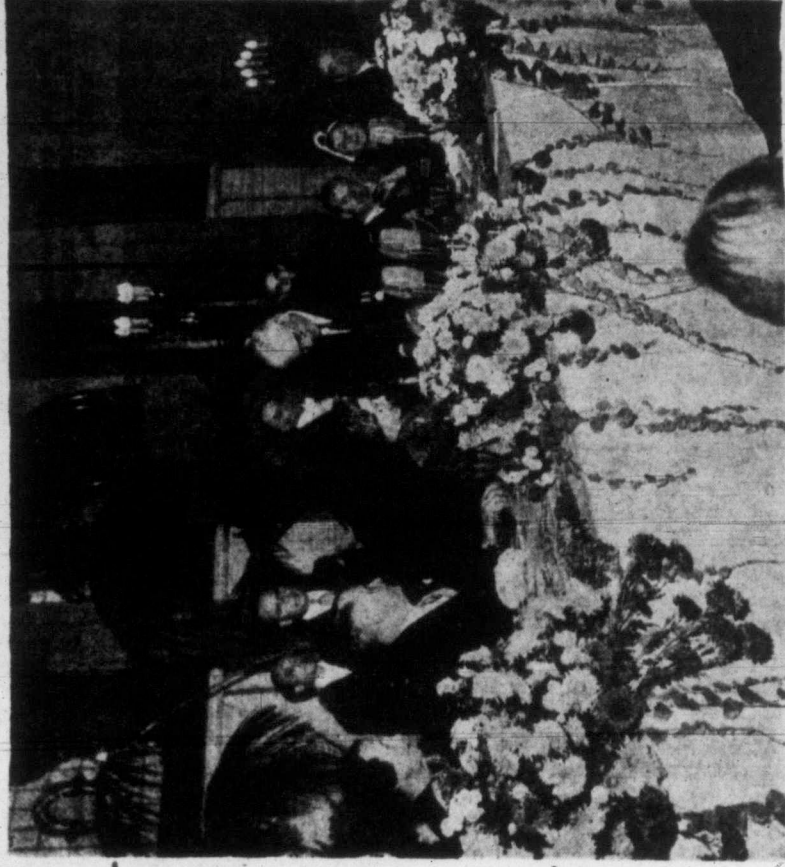

As Thousands Saw Them At City Hall

These pictures of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh are ones that will live in the memories of thousands of Victorians. They were taken outside the City Hall. Inside they received an illuminated address of welcome and a royal blue leather-covered album of photographs of Victoria. Both chatted in a friendly way with Mayor Percy George and some of the aldermen.

Princess Really Liked Her Gifts

Prince Philip talks to Princess Elizabeth as Royal car goes to Government House.

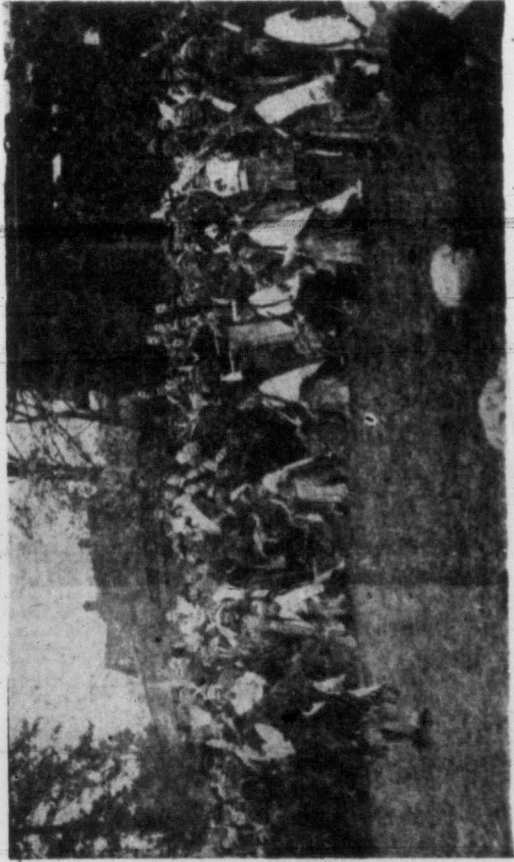

At the state banquet at the Empress Hotel.

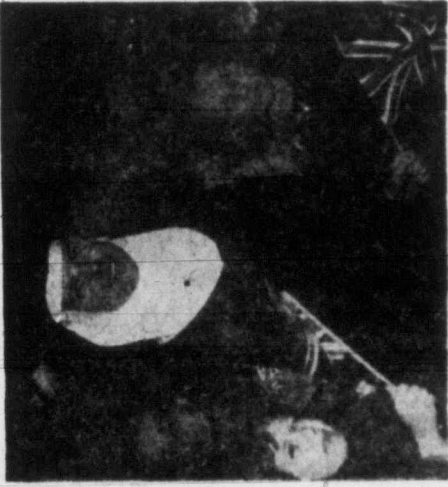

A Present From British Columbia

Her Royal Highness smiled delightedly as she examined one of the gifts from the people of British Columbia . . . handsome necklace in the dogwood motif, with diamonds and emeralds set in platinum. The occasion was the state luncheon at Empress Hotel. Premier Byron Johnson makes the presentation while the Prince looks on.

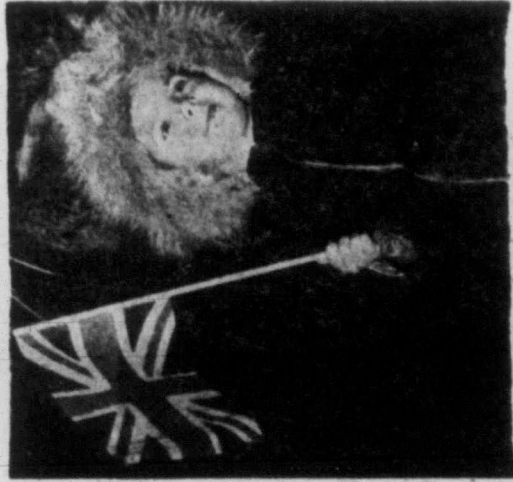

Island Indians Staged Native Dances

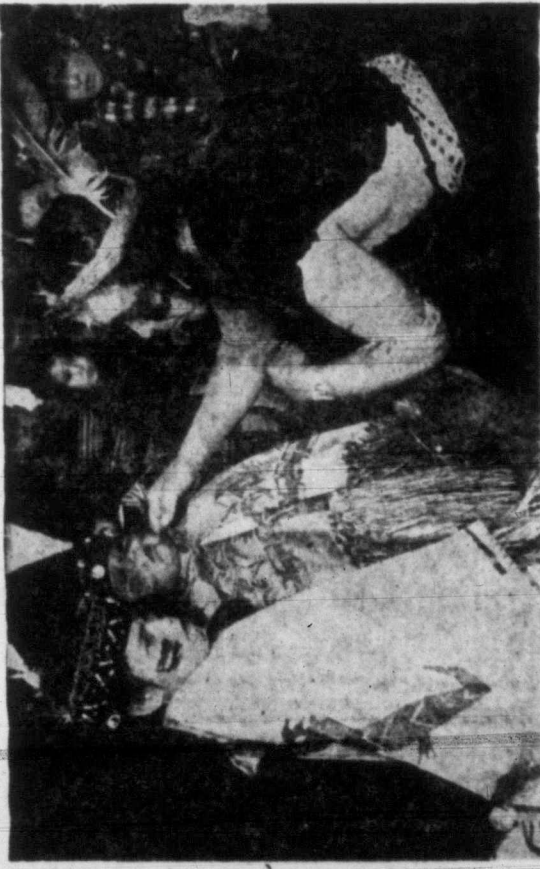

Ritualistic dances performed at Thunderbird Park by Alberni Indians were done to the thundering rhythm of Indian drums and the chanting of tribal refrains.

Sister Irene of the Sacred Heart School saw the Royal family pass in streets of London in 1950. On this occasion she took 40 young students of the school to see the procession in Victoria.

Every youngster had a flag. Bruce McKean waited behind a Girl Guide and Brownie guard of honor near Government House entrance.

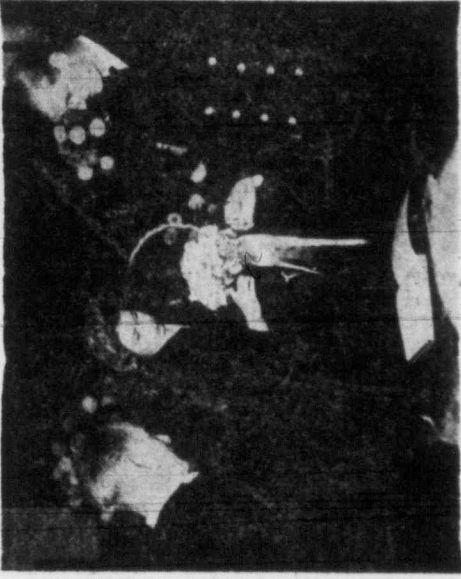

Chief Adam Shewish of Alberni tribe gives a touch up and instructions to two of 10 small Indian children who danced for the Princess.

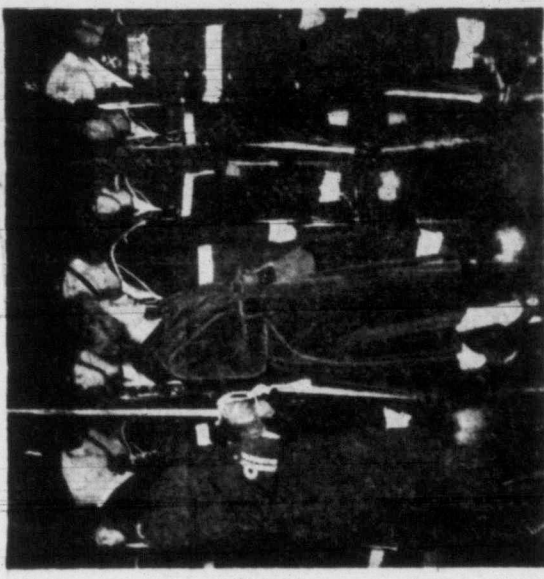

Newspaper and cameramen who came to Victoria to cover the Royal visit turned a big room in the Empress Hotel into headquarters. They came from all parts of Canada and followed the Royal couple throughout the tour.

Ceremonies Kept Royal Pair Busy

The Princess hands Prince Philip the pen after signing distinguished visitors' book at City Hall.

Lieut. E. D. "Ted" Robbins of Victoria escorted the Princess as she inspected the navy's Royal guard. "It is a very smart guard," she told him.

Princess Elizabeth leads the Royal party from the castle at Royal Roads after an informal tea. Behind her are Group Captain J. B. Millward, Lieut.-Commander Michael Parker and Admiral W. B. Creery. Prince Philip is immediately behind the Princess.

Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip were escorted to Rear Admiral Wallace B. Creery, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, following inspection of Royal guard by Princess.

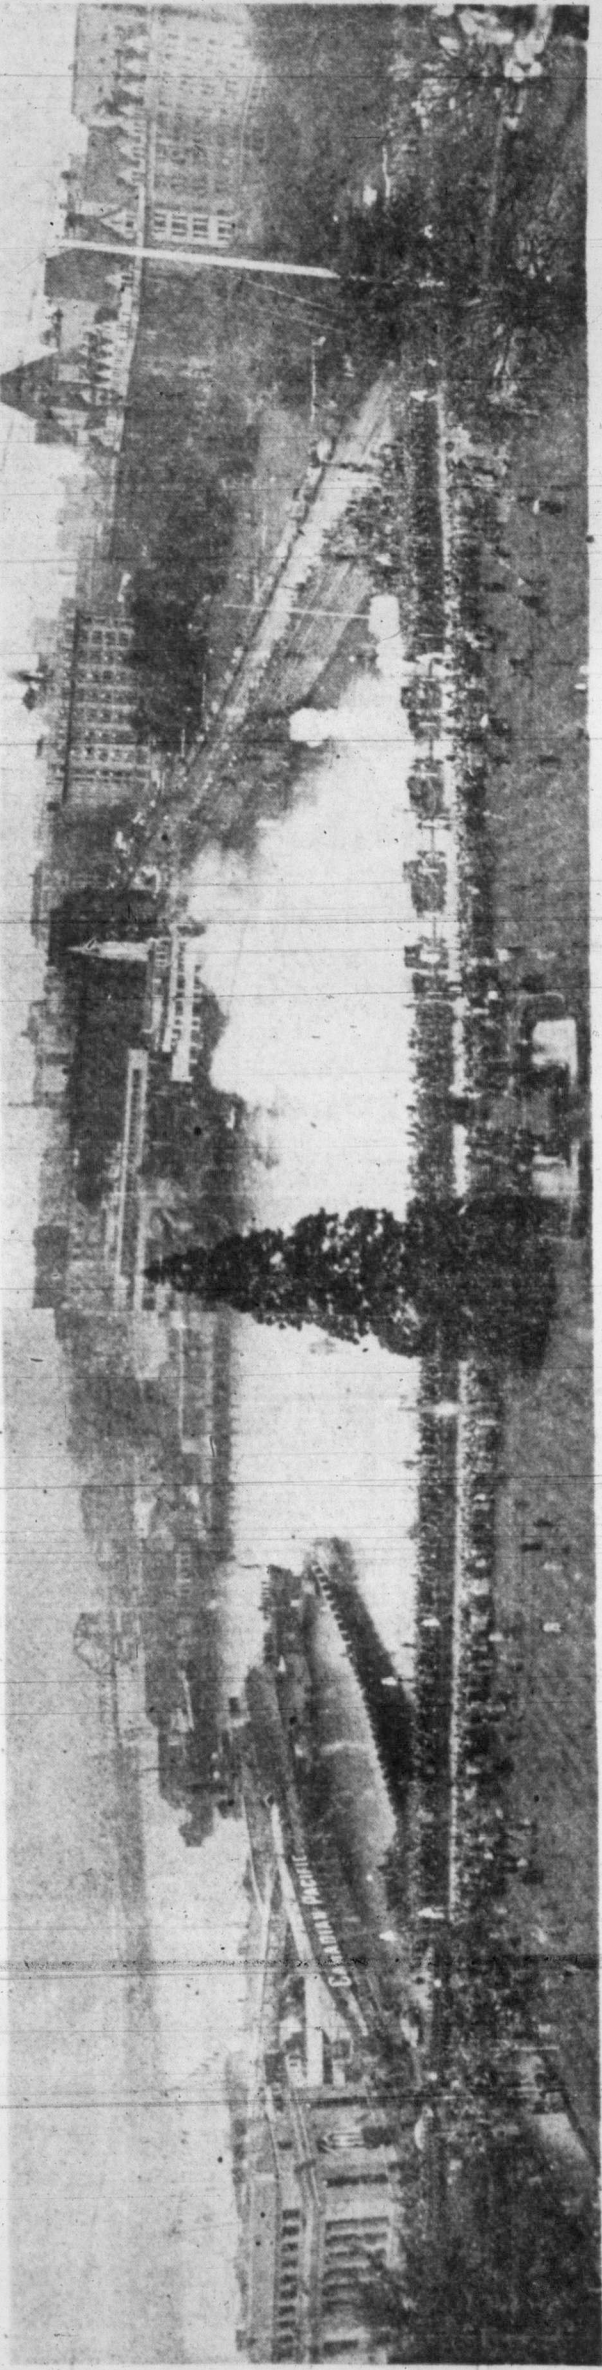

Some of 17,000 children who lined the procession route through the city and environs.

They Were Ready For Well-Earned Holiday

Ceremonies, inspections and presentations kept the Royal pair busy during their short stay. They were ready for a well-earned rest at Eaglecrest, 100 miles north of Victoria on Vancouver Island at beautiful Qualicum Beach.

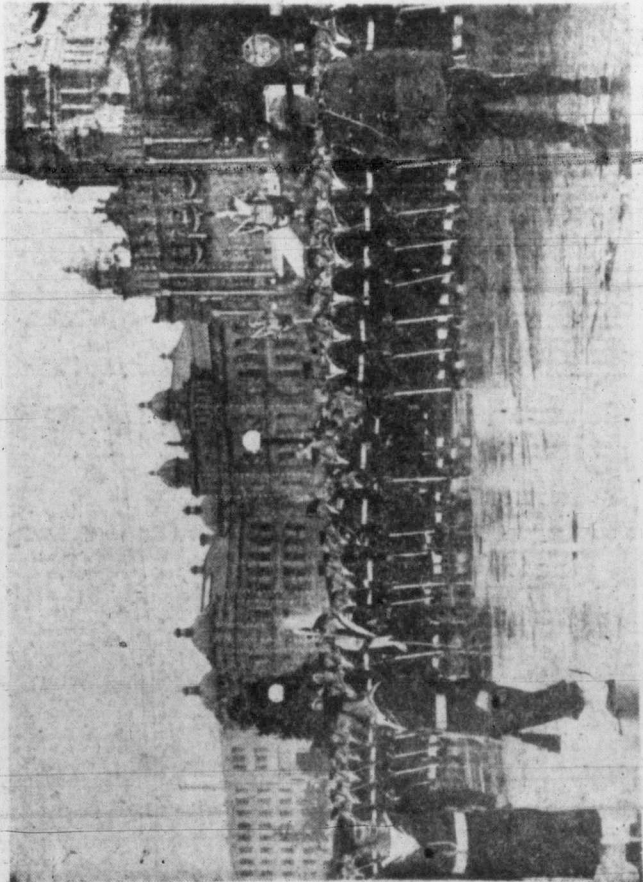

No Warmer Reception Was Extended Than In The Capital Of British Columbia

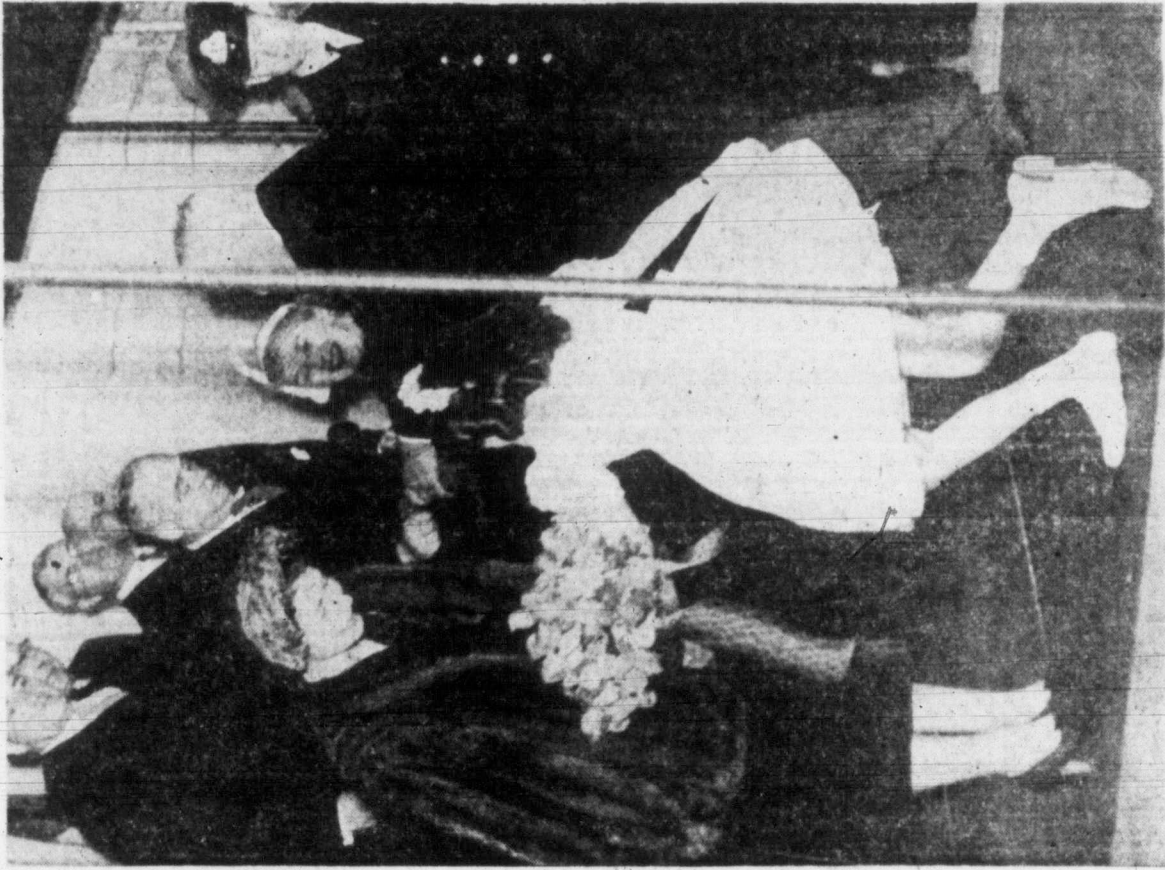

Panorama Of Victoria As Royal Salute Booms For Princess

As H.M.C.S. Crusader drew near to harbor Royal Canadian Navy fired a salute from atop Beacon Hill Park.

The paval guard of honor with the lighted and decorated Parliament Buildings in the background. At right one of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who courteously and efficiently joined city police in handling crowds and traffic.

A bouquet for Princess Elizabeth was presented by eight-year-old Connie Cownden on the steps of the Parliament Buildings.

From the docks to Government House the Royal couple traveled in a plastic-topped Cadillac convertible.

Elizabeth Drives Train
While Philip Is Fireman

EDMONTON, Oct. 27. (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived in the capital of Alberta today for a 10-hour visit. The Royal train pulled slowly into the Edmonton station exactly on time at 2 p.m.

The Princess was wearing a robin red dress under a hip-length mink jacket when she stepped from the train to be greeted by Alberta's 75-year-old lieutenant-governor, J. J. Bowden. Her off-the-face hat, shoes and purse were black. The Duke was in naval uniform.

A light rain was falling as they walked over the wet platform to the station concourse.

En route to Edmonton Princess Elizabeth drove the Royal train's 215-ton locomotive for 20 minutes. The fireman was Prince Philip.

"It was a magnificent experience," said the Princess when she stepped from the huge mountain-type engine after handling the controls from Yates to Peers, Alta., a distance of 14.4 miles.

The Princess, dressed in light blue raincoat, kerchief, black rubber shoes and leather gloves, got the train off to a smooth start at Yates and brought it to a halt at Peers without a jolt.

At Rosevear, passengers on a westbound transcontinental train halted at a siding, were surprised to see the Princess waving from the locomotive of the passing Royal train.

The regular crew, engineer A. McPhail and fireman J. J. Inkpen, both of Edmonton, explained the operation of the locomotive to the Royal apprentice.

Yates and Peers are a few miles east of Edmonton, where the Royal couple earlier made a short stop on their journey from Vancouver to Edmonton.

CRITICS

LONDON, Oct. 27. (Reuters)—Two more results in the British election—from remote Scottish islands and districts—were announced today. A Conservative was re-elected in one seat, and a Liberal retained the other.

Turnbull
Attacks
Critics

By GORDON FORBES
Health and Welfare Minister A. D. Turnbull today struck back at criticism leveled at the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service in an Inquiry Board's interim recommendation, filed in the Legislature Friday night.

Referring to the Board's recommendation concerning fixed budgets in hospitals, Turnbull declared the recommendation was not based on proper information. He considered the Board should have withdrawn the recommendation pending a further check into the matter.

QUICK DECISION

It took the strike committee just 15 minutes to turn down the President's request.

Truman now may invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, which limits the right to strike under some conditions. He also can call in the wage stabilization board, which is consulted in matters affecting defense.

Cairo Clamps State
Of Emergency On City

FROM UP, AP AND CP DISPATCHES
The Near East powder-keg sizzled ominously today, the election of Winston Churchill as prime minister of Britain being the touch fuse.

In Cairo authorities clamped a new state of emergency on the city to combat threatened demonstrations against the election of the Tories.

In Tehran roving bands of youths—termed Communists by government officials—today ripped down street signs marking Avenue Churchill for the second time in 12 hours to show how they feel about Churchill's election.

The general Egyptian public outcry came as direct outcome of the election. The election was regarded as a severe blow against Egypt's efforts to oust the British from the Suez Canal Zone and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

The independent weekly Akhbar El Yom said if Churchill used force in Egypt, he would ignite world war three and "dig a grave for himself and his country in Egypt."

The Egyptian press declared unanimously that Churchill's return to power will not frighten Egypt into compromising their national demands.

No Power On Earth

"No power on earth, no matter how potent, can subject 20,000,000 people to its will or force them to be friendly without their consent," said newspaper Al Ahram.

For the first time, it compared Egypt's battle with India's passive resistance campaign that forced the British to give that nation its independence. Egypt, likewise, has embarked on a non-cooperation program with the British.

Meanwhile, at Fayid, Egypt, Gen. Sir George Erskine, British commander in the Suez Canal zone, said today he hoped to avoid fighting the Egyptian army but said the British forces here are stronger than ever.

The only open clash between the two armies occurred more than a week ago and the incident apparently was smoothed over.

Second Boycott Move

The assembly approved a motion introduced Thursday saying it deplores Egypt's attempt to "impose Egyptian sovereignty on the Sudan without consulting the Sudanese people and refuses to recognize the constitution promulgated by the Egyptian government for the Sudan."

A second move to boycott Britain was made today by Egypt. All government ministries were instructed to throw out any British offers when bids from world firms are made on Egyptian government contracts.

It was also decided not to employ British experts in government work and to drop those left.

Bomb Rigged
On Car Kills
Union Leader

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 27. (AP)—Several hours after he received a "death" note demanding $2,000, the automobile of Charles Meeadon was blown to bits by a bomb that fatally injured the United Mine Workers' official.

Meeadon, 49, was president of U.M.W. Local 8005 for the last 10 years. His family said he had received several threatening letters recently, the latest demanding $2,000 or death—came Friday.

The violent blast rocked the area, left the auto a mass of wrecked, smoking debris. Three small girls—Louis Krahel, 8; her sister Irene, 5, and Irene Olsakowski, 12—suffered cuts and shock. They were walking on the sidewalk a few feet from the Meeadon auto.

Police said a powerful explosive had been rigged in Meeadon's car—either in the form of a time bomb or attached to the ignition.
